KU KLUX RITES DRAW 12,000

MLLE. LENGLEN WEEPS; QUITS TENNIS MATCH

Coughs to Collapse; Molla Winner.

MRS. FRANKLIN MALLORY.

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—If in the field of international athletics, every flag is to have its day the Tri-Color is still due its turn.

Under circumstances unusual and even dramatic Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, French representative in the women's national tennis championships at Forest Hills, Long Island, today defaulted to Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory American champion, in the second round. It was Mlle. Lenglen's first match of the tournament, Miss Eleanor Goss having defaulted to the French star earlier in the day.

The temperamental Mlle. Lenglen quit the contest with Mrs. Mallory after one set and two games had been played. Mrs. Mallory, playing in superb and apparently unbeatable form, had taken the first set by a score of 6—2. and had won the two points of the second on Mlle. Lenglen's service.

Has Fit of Coughing.

Early in the first set Mlle. Lenglen began coughing—the after effect of an attack of bronchitis some weeks ago. As the play increased in pace it was noticed that these attacks of coughing became more frequent. No one in the gallery of more than 8,000 people, however, believed these short spasms would prevent her from continuing what promised to be the most sensational women's tennis match ever seen on an American court.

It came as a complete surprise, then after a brilliant and spirited rally in the second set, which was won by Mrs. Mallory on a beautiful placement shot and a double fault, that the French girl walked toward the net coughing and crying. In mid-court she halted for just a moment as if at a loss for what to do next, and then walked rapidly to the referee's stand, collapsed in a chair, and brokenly announced her default. She beckoned to Mrs. Mallory, who came up from her side of the court, almost bewildered by the strange turn of events. Mrs. Mallory, seeing the French champion weeping in an uncontrolled manner, patted her hand and tried to reassure her.

Contestants Leave the Courts.

A moment or two later Mrs. Mallory left the courts and the gallery gave her applause which continued until she had disappeared in the club house. Mlle. Lenglen followed her victorious rival, coughing and holding her hand to her chest. She was assisted by the referee, Conlon, half way across the No. 1 court, and was met by A. F. De Joannis, who accompanied her on her trip to America.

She began at once to tell him over and over in French that she couldn't breathe. At the clubhouse steps, she was met by her mother and almost immediately afterward she went to her rooms at the inn.

Recalls Carpentier's Defeat.

In a way, this sudden failure of the hope of France, was more dramatic than that of her countryman, Georges Carpentier, at Jersey City on July 2. Carpentier was a challenger for the world's heavyweight boxing title and conceded only to have an outside chance to win, but Mlle. Lenglen already holds the world's tennis title for women and until her defeat in the first set by Mrs. Mallory, had not lost a set in tournament competition in the last three years.

Despite the diastrous results of the match and general disappointment of the gallery that it was not played through to its conclusion no matter what that conclusion might have been, there was some marvelous tennis played in the first set. Mrs. Mallory never appeared to better advantage in her long career as a tournament player. She played a deep court game from the first point, but her returns were fast and accurate and she made few errors.

Her Game Lacks Dash.

Suzanne, on the other hand, was erratic. Those who had seen her practice the preceding day remarked almost immediately that her game lacked the dash which had characterized it at one time. She played timidly and uncertainly and overlooked many opportunities to come up to the net. At times she seemed to be about to get

Writers Start to Moscow on 'Cootie' Train

BY GEORGE SELDES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

RIGA, Aug 16.—The Moscow train has just left. Twelve foul odored, sweaty, lice filled day coaches crowded with rags and misery, one old sleeping car, one magnificent parlor car with a conference room, and one antediluvian locomotive have pulled out of Riga into the world's vast darkness and into the great unknown.

Maxim Litvinoff, head of the soviet famine relief commission, has just waved good-by to the bolshevik commissaries in the de luxe car, and a dozen Americans wished godspeed to Floyd Gibbons of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Raymond Swing of the New York Herald, and John Graudenz of the United Press.

Difference in Meaning.

To the bolsheviks the trip means nothing. To the poor, bedraggled, unkempt, and perspiring mob of Russians and Lettlanders who were stretched out on four layers of shelving, forty to a car built for twelve, the foul stenches, darkness, and disease germs mean nothing. For here, far from Russia itself, the Russian byword "mitchevo"—it does not matter—is common.

But to the few westerners, the international couriers, the Red Cross men, and the newspaper men who fill the sleeper, the trip to Moscow means everything. It is a step into a land of darkness and misery, famine and plague, and perhaps great adventure.

Inside the Train.

The train itself was one of the saddest things on wheels. Compared to it the "hommes-chevaux cars" in which the doughboys traveled over France were palatial. With an American Red Cross man I walked through the second and third class coaches, both of us holding our noses and with our mouths filled with antiseptic tablets.

In the sleeper women without a shred of privacy within nor curtains on the windows were undressing, rolling their dirty clothing into pillows, and going to sleep on pine boards, layer upon layer. The doughboys who came home on the Leviathan can appreciate the crowding of this Letfish-Russian train, but they cannot imagine the dirt or stench.

All Kinds of Money.

The newspaper men have their pockets stuffed with two commodities—bolshevik roubles and flea medicine. Gibbons is bulging with money. For the first time in his life he is a millionaire. The fact is he has three millions, mostly in 10,000 rouble notes, all of which cost him about $100. Just before the train pulled out there was a brisk exchange of insect powders.

Every one talked about cholera, typhus and other cheerful subjects, while from the third and fourth class coaches came snores, putrid air and frequently outbursts of Russian curses when some newcomer stepped on the heads of those lying on the floor. A few beggars, from whom came an odor of a disinfectant, whined in oriental fashion for money or a crust of bread.

New Use for Wire.

As the Americans walked along the platform some one spied a heavy strand of wire running from the engine to the coaches.

"We have electric lights, we should worry," said Gibbons.

But an American Red Cross man, who had made the trip before, took the joy out of life by adding:

"That wire takes the place of the safety brake. You see the Russians do not have airbrakes so they tie a wire to the whistle, and in case of danger you pull it, warning the engineer, who tries to save the train by putting the locomotive into reverse."

SOVIETS DROP BARS ON WINE AND PROPERTY

RIGA, Aug. 16.—Prohibition has been abolished in soviet Russia and the country is now on a light wine basis.

A dispatch to the Letvian Telegraph agency, confirmed by the Moscow newspapers, announced the issuance of a decree permitting the manufacture and sale of beverages containing up to 14 per cent of alcohol, which will be highly taxed.

Prohibition of the sale of vodka, once the Russian national drink, was decreed by the government of former Emperor Nicholas in the earlier months of the world war.

The denationalization of real estate in soviet Russia, through a decree authorizing former owners or other persons to buy houses and land from the government, is announced in a Moscow dispatch to the Rosta agency, the official soviet news disseminator.

U.S. APPROVES PLAN TO EXTEND GRANT PARK LINE

News reached Chicago yesterday through Col. W. V. Judson, district engineer for the war department, that Secretary Weeks has approved the project of the south park commissioners to extend the shore line of Grant park 300 feet eastward between Randolph and Roosevelt road.

"This will enable the commissioners," said Col. Judson, "to build an outer boulevard, the axis of which will lie upon the north and south axis of the Field museum building. It also provides an opportunity for a large pier for the naval reserves and later, probably, if the war department approves, the building of the Chicago Yacht club will be moved to the new shore line."

Chairman Charles H. Wacker of the Chicago Plan commission said the present plans also contemplate space for bathing beaches and boat and waterplane landings.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the American draft dodger, who evidently feared that the negotiations between American Commissioner Dresel and the German government would result in extradition papers being issued for him, has disappeared from his home in Eberbach.

When last seen the slacker was reported to be speeding in a high powered car toward the Swiss border.

HOME BREW O. K., HOUSE DECIDES

Even Volstead Votes on Lenient Side.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The house went on record today against any interference with home brewing and distilling for personal use.

By a rising vote of 96 to 54 it virtually deprived prohibition agents of all power to prevent the manufacture of all alcoholic beverages in private dwellings unless proof can be furnished that the liquor is being manufactured for sale.

The victory for the cellar distilleries and the kitchen breweries came when a substitute for the Stanley search and seizure amendment, approved by the senate, was adopted. As passed by the senate, the Stanley amendment prohibited with heavy penalties any searches or seizures by prohibition agents without warrants.

Prohibits Searching Homes.

The house substitute prohibits the dry agents from searching any private home without warrants and then declares "no such warrant shall be issued unless there is reason to believe such dwelling is used as a place in which liquor is manufactured for sale or sold."

Thus, the substitute first prohibits searching of homes without warrant and then declares that if home breweries and distilleries are not making liquor for sale no search warrant can be obtained.

Several drys argued that the section as written would give complete protection to the home liquor makers. Representative Fields of Kentucky sought to amend it so that a warrant to search a home could be obtained if there was reason to believe that liquor was manufactured or sold there.

Volstead Declines Support.

For some strange reason, Representative Volstead, Minnesota, leader of the radical drys, declined to support him. Many members vote just as Mr. Volstead does on prohibition questions and the amendment was lost, 96 to 54. The house substitute, with the protection given the home brewer, was reported by Mr. Volstead. He did not vote either way on the Fields amendment.

Representative Reavis, Nebraska, asserted that protection of the home against unreasonable search is a fundamental principle of law, and that prohibition agents should not be allowed to violate it.

Following the vote on the substitute for the Stanley amendment, the entire bill was sent to conference.

WOODROW WILSON, ATTORNEY, CONFERS WITH HIS CLIENTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Woodrow Wilson, attorney-at-law, of the firm of Wilson & Colby, made his professional debut in Washington today.

He drove down to the offices at 1315 F street, accompanied only by his secretary. He entered through the rear door, as every time he appears on the streets there is something of a demonstration.

There he spent the entire afternoon at his desk conferring with Bainbridge Colby and saw a few visitors, among them two clients whose identity was not disclosed.

REFUSES TO WED FATHER OF HER TWO CHILDREN

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 16.—[United News.]—Can the law compel a single woman to marry the father of her children?

This puzzling question has set Judge Thomas F. Graham busy digging into his law books to see if he can discover the answer.

The case arises out of a request made by John Francis Burch that the court compel Miss Frances Anzengruver, the mother of his two children, to marry him, so that his offspring may be legitimized.

Miss Anzengruver admits that she is the mother of Burch's children, but refuses to marry him. For seven years while she and Burch were living together as man and wife she implored him to marry her without result, she declares.

"It is too late now. I can never, never marry him," she said.

Special Election Ordered for Two Voters on Farm

Ten notices were posted yesterday on trees and barns of the L. A. Hartong farm, near Plainfield, announcing a special election for Aug. 27, between 3 and 7 o'clock in the afternoon. L. A. Hartong will be judge. Mrs. L. A. Hartong will be clerk. The electorate will consist of Mr. and Mrs. L. A Hartong and, possibly a hired man. The election was ordered by August Maue, superintendent of Will county schools, to determine whether inhabitants of the Hartong farm wish their place annexed to the Plainfield school district.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—A resolution requesting President Harding to give up the use of the cigaret will be presented before the No Tobacco League of America, which opened its national convention at Winona Lake today. The resolution will be presented by Charles M. Fillmore, general secretary of the league.

SEE CRIME KEY IN MAGNETISM OF MADELYNN

Seek Clew in Her "Way with Men."

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Out of the maze of contradictory evidence surrounding the mysterious killing of J. Belton Kennedy, Los Angeles broker, on the steps of his "birthday bungalow," District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine tonight had definitely settled upon this line of inquiry:

What was the strange magnestism exerted by Madelynn Obenchain, beautiful divorcée, over at least three men whose life threads became a tangled skein at her command? What magnetism would bring them from the ends of the earth at her behest?—that would make them subservient to her every whim?

What power has she over Ralph Obenchain, the husband whom she divorced that she might fly to Kennedy? What is her influence over Arthur C. Burch, now held with her and charged with murder?

Answers May Solve Mystery.

What powerful impulse has she exerted in this late day that would cause the husband she deserted to give up his position, prospects of advancement, and devote his all in an attempt to prove her innocent? And why, three weeks before, did Burch, his business bankrupt, travel 3,000 miles, as he phrases it, "to help out a pal"? Was this all altruism?

Mr. Woolwine believes that the answers to these questions will go far in the solution of the mystery. Toward that end he now is concentrating an inquiry the tentacles of which will reach into every place where Burch, Obenchain, Kennedy, and Madelynn have sojourned since their childhood. Some of the investigators already are hard at it. Evanston, scene of the home life of at least three of the principals, is being scoured by Investigator Harry Lawrence of the prosecutor's office.

There's No Explaining.

Within the next three days he is to be reinforced by Deputy Sheriff William Bright, who leaves Los Angeles tonight to begin his work. Deputy Sheriff Bright in addition will visit other cities; other investigators will delve into every incident of Kennedy's life.

"The thing somehow looks to me as though it needs still further inquiry," Prosecutor Woolwine states. "I ask Burch: 'Why did you do it?' He answers: 'She is innocent.' We ask Obenchain: 'Why have you done this?' He answers: 'She is innocent.' That is the only statement they have made. It is apparently their only theory: 'Innocence.'

"They don't explain—they will not explain—the many puzzling circumstances we are facing. They have made no attempt to aid us in arriving at the true solution of this crime. And if they are innocent—why don't they do so?

"Why the Silence?" He Asks.

"Why all the silence—the conspiracy of silence, as some have put it? Why doesn't Burch explain the tracks of that automobile—the automobile that we know, that we can prove, was taken from the garage by him? Why doesn't he explain just where he went when he drove that car forty-four miles on the night of the slaying? Why doesn't he explain that package he took from his hotel as he rushed to answer what now is believed to have been a call from her? Why her clandestine visits, disguised as a blonde, to Burch's room? Why his undoubted espionage on the dead man? What brought him here anyhow?

"What is there that these two are afraid will become public—so much afraid, if they are innocent as they claim—that they will face the gallows before they will reveal it?

"But no! 'I have nothing to say! I know she's innocent!' he says. And she repeats it with a change of person.

Indicted for Silence.

"I say this: If these two were innocent and they had told the truth freely and fully when questioned, I would have listened to them. There would have been found ways and means to substantiate their statements. And if they had declared their innocence by explanation instead of concealment, they probably would not have been indicted. But they didn't and they are."

Up in the office of Lecompte Davis, criminal lawyer and participant in a hundred hard fought murder trials in Los Angeles' history, there sat today one point of this strange triangle.

Ralph Obenchain, Chicago's Lochinvar, a civil lawyer with not a single criminal case to his credit, was endeavoring to gain some knowledge of

Lake Zurich Scene of Weird Klan Ritual

Twelve thousand Chicagoans made an eerie pilgrimage to a mysterious rendezvous six miles south of Lake Zurich last night to attend the mystic initiation rites incidental to the "naturalization" of 2,376 new members of the order of the Ku Klux Klan.

There, standing blindfolded in a downpour of rain, surrounded by a huge blazing cross formed of men with lighted torches, the initiates kissed the American flag, swore to protect the weak and defenseless, pledged themselves to uphold American institutions and support the commands of the Ku Klux.

Secrecy Marks Pilgrimage.

Secrecy was paramount in the preparations. To a certain sector of the city on North Central park avenue the klansmen trooped—some in cars, some on foot. Cards were shown, credentials viséd, assignments made to automobiles.

Then the long cavalcade started upon its secret journey. Only the leaders knew their destination. Rumor had it that the Indiana dunes would be the place of the meeting. Others thought the prairies west of Evanston would serve as rendezvous.

The rain pattered down, and the thousands of silent riders, all garbed in white and shrouded with masks, moved on. In post bellum times when the order was first organized, horses were the means of travel. No galloping steeds in this modern day, however. With gasoline the Twentieth century Klansmen move along.

A Weird Assemblage.

Three miles from the trysting place three white figures stood in the road. The cavalcade was halted momentarily, then resumed its way under the guidance of the mysterious trio.

Once more the cars halted. There, in a vast meadow surrounded by a sloping terrain, the Klansmen gathered. A huge bonfire had been lighted. Thousands of members of the order, each bearing aloft a torch, took position in the form of a blazing cross. The blindfolded initiates were herded inside.

Upon the weird assemblage the searchlights of the automobiles, drawn about in a great circle, shone with white intensity. Pickets patrolled beyond the pale, terrifying the curious citizens of the countryside by their grotesque appearance.

Near one end of the flaming cross, perched on a raised dais, sat Col William Joseph Simmons, imperial wizard of the invisible planet of the Ku Klux Klan. Beside him was Edward Young Clarke, imperial klagle. Col. Simmons had come from Atlanta, Ga., for the express purpose of inducting the initiates into the order.

Ritual Known Only to Members.

The ritual of "naturalization," as the ceremony is called, is secret. Only the 10,000 members and the 2,376 initiates know what abracadabra was uttered—know the mystic words in which the oaths were formed.

All they can say is that the shrouded figures moved forward in the driving rain, knelt and kissed the large American flag, swore to uphold the principles of the Ku Klux Klan, then gave their solemn pledge of secrecy and allegiance. The organization—a national one, descendent of the famous southern order founded soon after the civil war—has for its avowed object the perpetuation of law, order, peace, and justice.

Finally the host of klansmen dispersed. The flaming cross broke into its thousand entities. The roar of motors rolled across the prairies. Searchlights flashed over the lonesome terrain as the cars began their homeward journey.

As they came—mysteriously, secretly—they left, and the meadow rendezvous was left with its dying fire and smoldering embers.

IRISH HOLD OUT FOR REPUBLIC; BRITISH ARM

Dail Firm, but Continues Parleys.

BULLETIN.

DUBLIN, Aug. 16. — (United News.)—The order recalling to Ireland all soldiers on leave was considered advisable "in view of the possibilities contingent upon a militant attitude by the Dail Eireann towards the peace offer," it was stated in British official quarters tonight.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—Dail Eireann, parliament of southern Ireland, which claims to be the parliament of all Ireland, met today in the historic round room of Dublin mansion house. It was the beginning of the vital session at which the issue of peace or war with Great Britain will be determined.

The meeting was doubly significant, for it was the first public meeting the Dail has been able to hold and it was the first meeting at which practically all the members were present. It also was the first formal meeting of the new Dail elected under the Irish home rule act setting up two parliaments for Ireland.

The feature of the meeting was De Valera's speech, in which he referred to the negotiations with Great Britain now proceeding. It was a fighting speech with reservations, and the reservations were the most important part of the speech, unless one regards the things unsaid.

No Reference to Ulster.

There was not a single reference to Ulster, which is the key to the whole problem, and in this studied avoidance some see the hope of a conciliatory spirit.

At roll call there was what some regarded as a declaration of principle, some as mere play action.

The clerk solemnly called the names of all the members of the northern parliment, including Craig, Lord Londonderry, Molescoote, and all the other leaders. This was intended as a notification to the world that the Dail did not recognize the partition and included all elected members in Ireland as members of itself.

The proceedings were conducted in Irish by the speaker of the old Dail, Sean T. Oceallaigh, which is Irish for John O'Kelly. Mr. O'Kelly spoke Irish more fluently than most members and is called the father of the language; he read prayers in Irish, most of the members repeating them. Then the oath of allegiance was repeated also in Irish by all the members standing up with lifted hands.

The terms of the oath:

Terms of Oath.

"I do solemnly swear I do not and shall not yield my voluntary support to any pretended government, authority, or power, with Ireland hostile or inimical thereto, and I do further swear that, to the best of my knowledge and ability, I will support and defend the Irish republic and the Government of the Irish republic, which is Dail Eireann, against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same, and that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purposed evasion."

Seating Layout in Chamber.

Part of the great round room was roped off for the parliamentary chamber and the public was seated in the rest of the room and in the galleries. In the front benches sat the Dail ministry, with President de Valera at one end. On his right was Father O'Flannagan, then Michael Collins, famous minister of finance, who is credited with being the brain of the military effort of the Irish; then Arthur Griffith, then Cathal Brugha, titular chief of the Irish republican army.

In the body of the assembly was Richard Mulcahey, famous adjutant general of the I. R. A., and chief fighting man of the Irish.

De Valera in English.

Mr. de Valera's speech, of course, was the only business of the meeting. He spoke first a few words of Irish haltingly and with difficulty; then he broke into English, outlining the work of the meeting, then attacking Prime Minister Lloyd George and the British proposals. He announced the reply to Mr. Lloyd George would be discussed in private session, probably beginning tomorrow, and then presented to the Dail in public.

"You all understand the seriousness of that reply," Mr. de Valera said. "It is intended by the British government to make that the issue of peace or war with this nation."

Referring to the election at which the old Dail was chosen, Mr. de Valera described it as a plebiscite at which the Irish people declared for freedom and independence.

Hope of Peace.

Then came a significant passage.

"I don't say the answer was for a particular form of government because we are not republican doctrinaries, but it was for Irish freedom and independence, and a republic was chosen because at that time a republic seemed the best instrument for release of the Irish aspirations."

Mr. de Valera detailed the inconsistencies of Mr. Lloyd George, quoting the prime minister's speeches, but not a word he said indicated any intention to break off negotiations. On the contrary he indicated they would be continued.

"We are negotiating," the speaker said, "not to save our faces but to save bloodshed." After a bitter diatribe against the British lack of principle, he said that if they meant what they said, there was no need to negotiate at all unless to save their faces.

SPEECH BY DE VALERA

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—In the course of his address to the Dail Eirerann today, Eammon de Valera said:

"Only on a basis of our recognition as an Irish republic will we deal with any nation or foreign country whatever. The only government the people of Ireland recognize is the ministry of the Dail Eireann, the Irish republic parliament later."

Still later in his address he declared that he and his colleagues stood firmly for the ideals embodied in the American declaration of independence.

"The principles of the freedom of small nations came up in my talks with Mr. Lloyd George," he continued. "They were principles which he advocated during the war, and I told him that if he would recognize them now there would be no need for our negotiations.

"We recognize them, and will live and die for them."

Alluding to the millions of lives lost in the world war for the principle of self-determination, Mr. De Valera said:

"Nobody has spoken more eloquently than Mr. Lloyd George on that subject, and had he recognized those principles in practice there would have been no necessity for any negotiations.

"The trouble in the present negotiations was the lack of principle on the part of Great Britain to stand for principle, and we mean to die for it, if necessary."

Pistol to Ireland's Head.

The words of Mr. De Valera were greeted with cheers.

"It is practically impossible to negotiate with the British government," the speaker continued. "The position is like asking an unarmed man to negotiate with one holding a pistol to his head. When Irishmen come to negotiate with Great Britain they find at every step they are confronted not with principle, but with force. Therefore further negotiations with Great Britain for the most part mean nothing but the opportunity of saving faces. We will negotiate to save bloodshed if we can, but we can only negotiate on right and on principle.

"It is not just that a small nation by the side of a big nation should be asked to give guarantees to save the big nation. Rather should the big nation give guarantee to save the small nation.

"If big empires can claim to grab up all those small nations beside them for their interest, then undoubtedly it would be that the small nations, which did so much for the world and which the premier has talked so much about, would cease to exist."

Seek to Save Bloodshed.

Again referring to the peace negotiations with Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. de Valera said:

"The Dail Eireann cabinet refused the offer of a dominion form of government by Mr. Lolyd George because it considered his proposals unjust," he added.

In another section of his address Mr. de Valera said:

"In the general election, which in effect was a plebiscite, the question was put to the Irish people what form of government they wanted and how they wished to live so that they might have the opportunity of working out for themselves their own national life in their own way.

Vote for Irish Freedom.

"The answer the people gave wis unmistakable. I do not say their answer was for a form of government so much, because we are no republican doctrinaires; but it was for Irish freedom and Irish independence, and it was obvious to everybody who considered the question that Irish independence could not be realized at the present time in any other way so suitable as through a republic.

"Hence, it was that an Irish republic, as such, was sanctioned by the representatives of the people, and that you, the representatives of the people, came here and in public session declared the independence of the nation and solemnly declared your determination that you would give your lives and everything you had in an endeavor to make that expression of the people effective so that you would have not merely in your own hearts recognition of it, but that you might secure recognition of it from every nation throughout the earth."

This is taken by officials here as affording an opportunity for Mr. de Valera to accept a settlement of the controversy which does not involve a republic.

Order Soldiers Back.

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—The British military authorities have recalled from leave all troops serving in Ireland.

WOMEN BARRED BY WOMEN FROM SEAT AT PARLEY

Fair Sex Not Qualified, Congresswoman Says.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Agitation for the appointment of a woman on the U. S. delegation to the disarmament conference which opens Nov. 11 met with counter agitation today from women sources. Representative Alice Robertson of Oklahoma and Miss Florence King, president of the National Woman's Association of Commerce, do not believe a woman should be placed on the delegation.

MISS ALICE ROBERTSON.
[Copyright: Harris & Ewing.]

Asked as she was leaving the White House if she had called to urge the appointment of a woman on the delegation, Miss Robertson snappily replied:

"I should say I did not. That is so much nonsense.

"I don't know of a woman in the United States possessed of the qualifications to sit on that commission.

"She would have to have experience in international affairs.

"She would have to have experience in diplomacy and diplomatic affairs.

"She would have to be familiar with foreign languages and conditions.

"She would have to have social standing.

MISS FLORENCE KING.
[Copyright: Harris & Ewing.]

"She should not be a climber socially.

"She would have to be prepared to listen much and talk little.

"I do not know of a woman who fills that bill, do you?"

China, 32; Japan, 200 Delegates.

China has communicated its desire to send a staff numbering thirty-two to represent it at the conference. Japan's contingent will be nearly 200 strong, and the British embassy is understood to be inquiring into the possibility of taking over two hotels or apartment houses for the period of the conference. No indication of the size of their delegation has been received from France and Italy.

"As I see the coming conference," said Miss King, "the results of it will be founded upon a cold business proposition. It would be the height of folly to appoint a woman just because she is a woman.

Could Bring No New Thought.

"There is not a nation in the world that takes issue with the woman's sentimental reasons for stopping war."

BOY, 6, STRUCK BY AUTO TRUCK; SKULL BROKEN

Six year old Henry Asczarek of 2100 North Robey street, running an errand for his mother, was struck by a truck at Robey street and Webster avenue yesterday. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital with a fractured skull.

A coronor's jury, holding an inquest into the death of John A. Dwyer, who was killed Monday when has car collided with one driven by August Erbman, 7343 South May street, recommended that the latter be held to the grand jury for manslaughter.

E. J. Schroeder, 29 years old, 309 Schiller street, was probably fatally injured last night when thrown from his motorcycle as it ran against a gate post of the St. Paul railroad tracks at North avenue.

Mrs. Mary Goldstein, 32 years old, of Congress Park, was possibly fatally injured late last night when an automobile in which she was riding with her husband, L. C. Goldstein, was struck by an automobile driven by Walter Schlick, 1154 North Clark street.

'HOOTCH DOCS' TO FEEL MAILED FIST OF KJELLANDER

Relentless warfare was declared yesterday by Prohibition Director John Kjellander upon physicians who issue prescriptions in violation of the prohibition law. He declared he will drive doctors who violate the law from the practice of their profession.

"Next to the bootlegger, the doctor who prescribes just to earn a fee, knowing that the man asking for the prescription is not ill, is the hardest man to combat," Mr. Kjellander said. "Most doctors are honest, but there is a certain percentage writing prescriptions illegally. I intend to check up on all doctors immediately, if I have to call in every physician in the state who has filled emergency precriptions."

In fifty-nine cities of the United States, according to a report of the Anti-Saloon league, having a population of over 30,000 and a combined population of over 20,000,000, including New York, Chicago, Baltimore, and Philadelphia, figures from the office of the federal prohibition commissioner show that arrests for drunkenness have decreased from 316,842 in 1917 to 260,169 in 1918, to 172,659 in 1919, and 109,768 in 1920.

SENATE GRANTS ITSELF RECESS AUG. 24-SEPT. 21

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—By a vote of 38 to 18, the senate today adopted the Lodge resolution for a recess from Aug. 24 to Sept. 21. Many Democrats and a few Republicans opposed a recess and Senator Pittman of Nevada tried a filibuster to get action on the pending $100,000,000 good roads bill.

Senator Lodge made the point of order that the resolution to adjourn was not debatable and Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, acting as presiding officer, sustained it.

Senator Borah of Idaho called the shipping board a "cesspool that ought to be cleaned up." He said he didn't "believe Baron Munchausen ever wrote anything to equal" the testimony on the shipping board deals." He failed to block the recess proposal.

The shipping controversy probably will be brought up tomorrow when the $48,000,000 deficiency is brought forward.

SMALL LAWYERS FILE PETITION FOR CHANGE OF VENUE

Prosecutor Writes He'll Not Oppose Move.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Formal application for a change of venue from the court of Judge Elbert S. Smith and from Sangamon county was filed in the Circuit court here today on behalf of Gov. Len Small.

The action answered the much discussed question concerning the governor's program, for, in addition to disclosing the next step to be taken, it also showed, it was believed here, that his lawyers have dropped their previous plan of attempting to bring about his release upon a writ of habeas corpus.

The motion to take the case out of Sangamon county probably will be heard soon after the opening of the fall term of court on Sept. 6. In the meantime attorneys for the governor will confer with State's Attorney Mortimer in an effort to agree upon the exact manner in which the transfer will be sought.

Lawyer Writes Prosecutor.

This was made certain by an exchange of letters between Attorney George B. Gillespie and the prosecutor. The former asked Mortimer to define more clearly his offer of July 10 to cooperate in bringing about a change of venue.

He also asked the prosecutor to state whether he preferred to have Judge Frank W. Burton or Judge Norman L. Jones, two Democratic associates of Judge Smith, hear the arguments upon the motion for a change. Mr. Mortimer replied that he preferred to leave the decision in the hands of Judge Smith, the presiding judge.

"To make my meaning as clear as possible,' continued the state's attorney's letter, "I state to you here and now that I am ready and willing, when the matter is properly before the court, to recommend to the court that your petition for a change of venue from the county be granted, not upon the basis that your client could not receive a fair and impartial trial in this county, but rather upon the basis that you have made the petition and application and that, in view of the importance of the matters involved, it is my honest desire that your petition should be granted.

Hopes to Agree on County.

"I agree entirely with the proposition suggested that we shall, through negotiations, endeavor to agree mutually upon the county to which the case is to be sent for trial, and, if such agreement can be reached, jointly to recommend to the court that the case be sent to that county, and that on failure to agree, then each side shall make such suggestions to the court or judge as will enable him finally to determine where the case should be sent."

As Vernon Curtis of Grant Park, Ill., already has served notice that he will ask a change of venue, there is some prospect that Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, the third man of the indicted group, will be the only one to go to trial in Sangamon county. In other words, there is a possibility that there will be separate trials, without any action taken directly to bring that result about.

FALL FROM CAR MAY BE FATAL.

Injuries which Joseph Kearney, 86 years old, 1128 West Adams street, suffered Monday may result in his death, county hospital authorities say. According to Richard Cameron, 2138 North Laramie avenue, Kearney was alighting from a street car when it suddenly started, throwing him to the pavement.

Denver Bank Teller Gone; So Is Girl and $80,000

Denver, Colo., Aug. 16.—Edwin F. Morse, teller of the International Trust company, who is missing, as are between $75,000 and $80,000 of the bank's funds, has escaped into Mexico, according to the belief of local police and private detective agencies seeking to locate him and Miss Mabel Penfold, 22, believed to have accompanied him on his flight. Tonight a reward of $1,500 for the apprehension of Morse and an additional reward of 5 per cent for all of the missing funds recovered were announced by Sidney Moritz, manager of the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, which had insured the local bank against loss.

BAR WILL DECIDE ON BALLOT FRAUD PLAN TOMORROW

Request for Special Prosecutor Up.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Recommendations of the Chicago Bar association's committee on candidates urging the appointment of a special state's attorney and the impaneling of a special grand jury will be considered tomorrow by the board of managers of the organization.

The committee was the leading body in the coalition movement which frustrated the city hall's attempt to raid the bench last June, and the first necessity mentioned for special prosecuting machinery is to sift election frauds committed on June 6. Because of State's Attorney Crowe's alliance with the machine the committee believes there should be a special prosecutor.

The lawyers have gone over the evidence now in the hands of Frederick A. Brown, who was appointed a special assistant attorney general to make an investigation. It is said there is unanimous agreement that there is material for scores of convictions.

Merit Abuses Also Target.

In addition to cleaning up frauds, the committee, it is reported, was actuated in its recommendations by a desire to stop violations of the civil service law such as have been charged against the city hall machine.

The Civil Service Reform association, through its attorney, R. E. Blackwood, has placed before Attorney General Brundage and the Bar association committee evidence of political assessments in the form of the purchase tickets for the Thompson "Republican jubilee' 'at Riverview park and compulsory subscriptions for the city hall's political organ, "The Republican."

Expect County Board to Act.

Through Gov. Len Small's veto of appropriations for the attorney general's department the investigation by Attorney Brown was crippled for lack of funds. It is probable the Bar association, if it determines upon action in this direction, will move for Mr. Brown's appointment as special state's attorney.

The law requires that the county board shall appropriate for the expense of a special prosecutor when he is appointed. It is believed an appropriation of $50,000 or $60,000 will be necessary. It is expected the machine will attempt to block the inquiry.

1921 IS REWARDING FIGHTERS

DISARM MEETING "JUST IN TIME," COMMONS HEARS

Lloyd George Warns of Greed as War Cause.

BY JOSEPH FREEMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 16.—"The disarmament conference at Washington does not come an hour too soon," Prime Minister Lloyd George declared in the house of commons this afternoon in a speech in which he made important statements on Upper Silesia, the sanctions, the Turko-Greek war, the Russian famine, and the league of nations.

The prime minister gave warning that the Washington conference will not suffice "unless there is constant vigilance of the federated nations throughout the world, whatever the form the federation might take, to make sure that ambition and greed will never again plunge the world into a quagmire of wretchedness."

Mr. Lloyd George, discussing the recent meeting of the allied supreme council, characterized it as "the most important since the peace treaty was signed." At the end of the meeting, he said, a resolution was passed setting forth that the alliance not only was to continue in effect but that "in spirit it was as strong as ever."

Silesian Problem Easy.

"The upper Silesian problem itself," the prime minister said, "was one of the easiest that came before the council for solution. On its merits, geographical, economic and statistical it never seemed to me nor my associates to present insuperable difficulties. But it was complicated by the introduction of other elements which converted it into rather a menacing problem. There are large sections of French public opinion who believe that the taking away of coal mines, tin mines and iron works is essential to the safety of their country. That I believe to be a delusion.

The prime minister reviewed the history of the Upper Silesian problem, recalling the fact that the plebiscite had gone overwhelmingly in favor of the Germans. He showed the complexities of the problem, adding, "if injustice had been done it would have rankled and provoked conflicts in the near future, certainly in the remote future, and there would be no permanent peace in Europe."

Most Important Question.

Relating how the proposal to refer the problem to the league of nations came to be made he said:

"This proposal, I am certain, came at the only moment when it would be acceptable and likely to succeed. It is the most important question which has yet been referred to the league and undoubtedly the reputation, position and influence of the league will be considerably enhanced if it successfully deals with this most complicated problem."

Mr. Lloyd George stated that he expected some time would elapse before the league reaches a solution and that "it might be necessary to send reinforcements to prevent anything like the incidents which disturbed the peace of Europe early in the summer so we have agreed to contribute whatever is necessary."

Germany Doing Its Best.

Regarding the economic sanctions he said:

"Germany is doing its best in the matter of reparations and the allies feel that to prolong irksome economic barriers on the Rhine would be unfair so they have agreed to terminate them."

He added that military sanctions also would be gradually reduced.

Discussing Turkey and Greece he said:

"There is only one alternative—leave them both fight it out. War in the end teaches respect for facts, and both races will be easier to deal with if at least their own limitations are brought clearly to their minds.

"The time for mediation has not arrived, and when it does I have no doubt that the treaty of Sevres will have to be considered. I sincerely trust Greek statesmanship will not repeat the error which Bulgaria made in 1913, when, after a series of brilliant victories, she put forward extravagant claims, raising up a host of enemies and antagonizing old friends."

Discusses Russian Famine.

Referring to the supreme council's decision to create an international commission to study the possibilitiies of rendering immediate aid to the Russian famine sufferers, he said:

"The three problems with which we have had to deal were transport, exchange, and organization in the famine area. We could organize these by complete coöperation with the governmental machine in that area. The best services which the soviet government can render at present is to recognize its obligations to trading communities."

Former Prime Minister Herbert H. Asquith said that Mr. Lloyd George's statement "was the most satisfactory that we have yet received on the international situation since the armistice."

Tokio Mission in Chita.

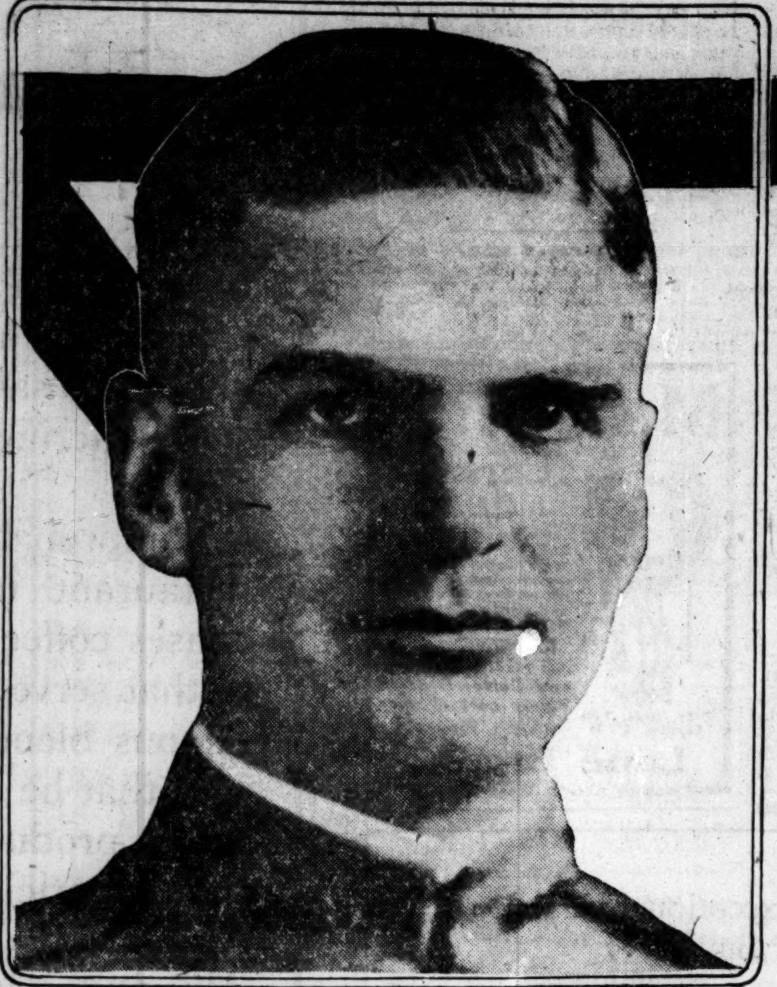
TOKIO, Aug. 16.—The disposition of the Japanese government to settle the question of the evacuation of Siberia before the opening of the far eastern conference at Washington, gave a special interest to the mission of Hajime Matsushima of the foreign office, who recently went to Vladivostok. It is understood that Mr. Matsushima, who was formerly consul general at Harbin, is empowered to take up actively all questions pertaining to a working agreement with the government at Chita which would include as one of its provisions the withdrawal of the Japanese army from Vladivostok and the adjacent country.

In an interview en route, Mr. Matsushima was quoted as saying that the question of evacuation as a result of the recent military and diplomatic conference at Tokio had now reached the stage of execution.

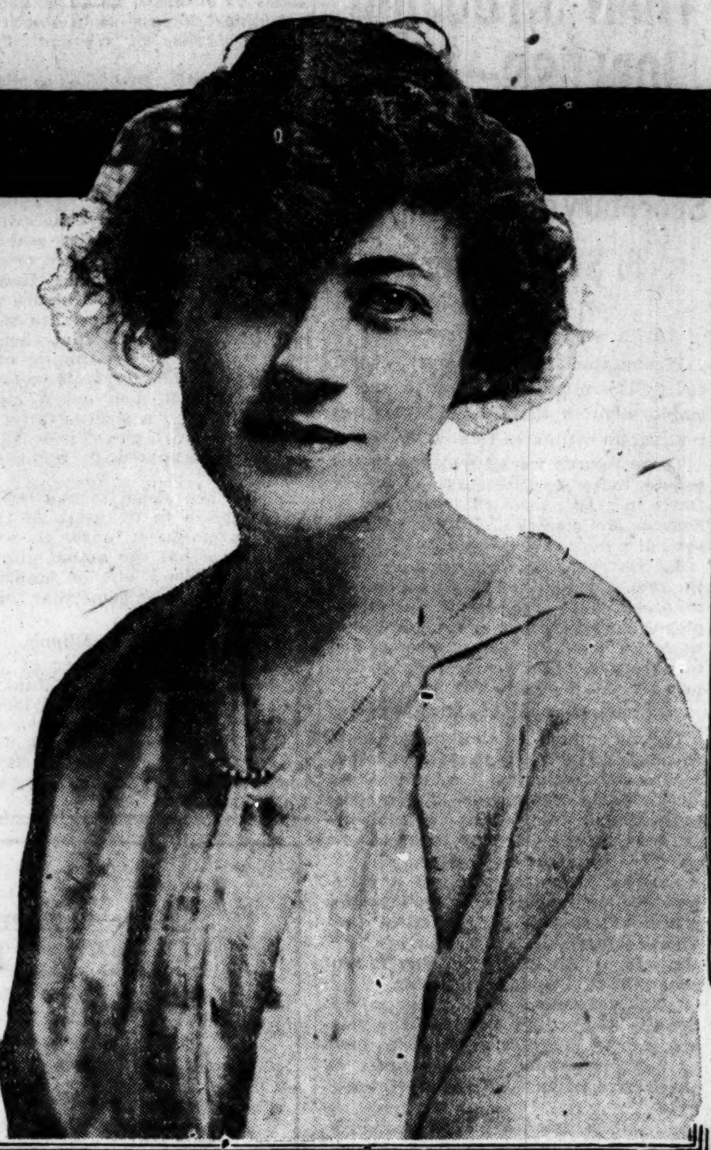
China to Send Thirty-One.

PEKING, Aug. 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—China's delegation at the conference on disarmament and far east questions to be held in Washington late this autumn, will comprise thirty-one members.

WHY THE TRIANGLE AROUND MADELYNN?

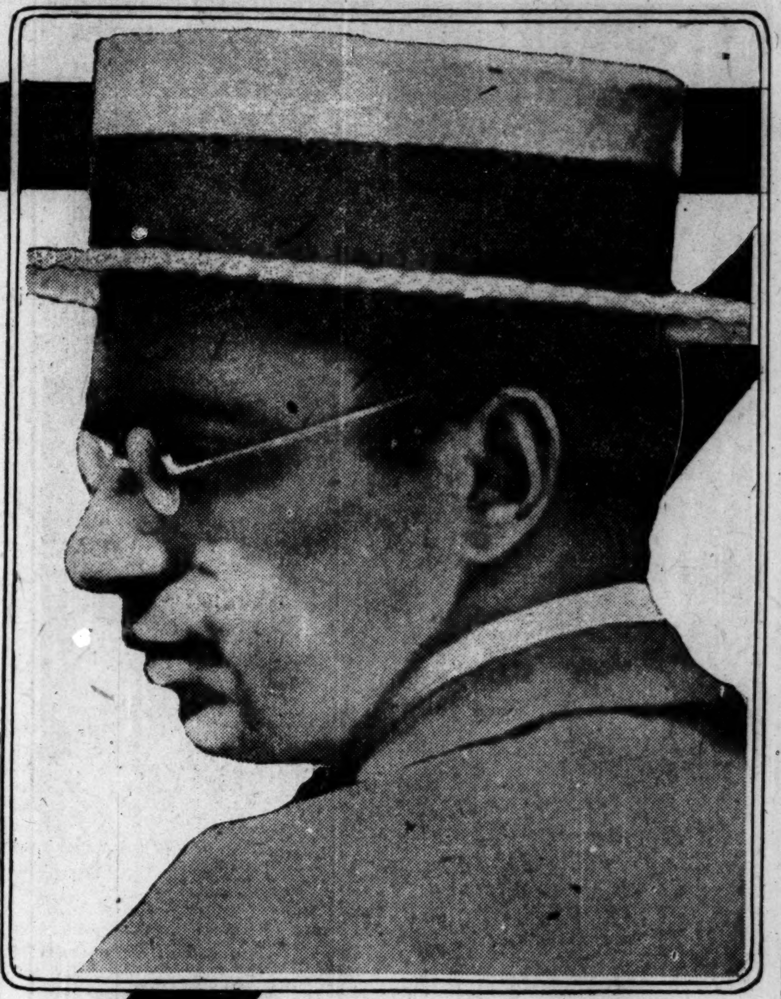


One corner of the triangle is Ralph Obenchain. He was divorced from Madelynn. She loved Kennedy. Came tragedy. But Obenchain flies to her side. Is John Ruskin outdone in the great-heartedness of Obenchain? Is Obenchain justified in the great sacrifice his friends say he is making for the woman who rejected him for Kennedy? What hold has the beautiful Madelynn on the husband she left?



And Madelynn! What charm, what magnetism, the court may ask, had she to so affect the lives of three men? Kennedy dead. Burch in jail, accused of murder. Obenchain again her champion.

(J. D. Toloff photo.)



Arthur C. Burch. An Evanston minister's son. Well bred. Educated. Personified sangfroid. The kind of a man to cross the continent at a friend's beck. In jail awaiting trial for murder. All because of Madelynn. No one knows what power there was to draw him to Madelynn Obenchain. Yet he left home, family, and friends, shortly to find himself imprisoned on a murder charge in a strange city.

(Underwood photo.)

SEE CRIME KEY IN MAGNETISM OF MADELYNN

Clew Sought in Her "Way with Men."

the California statutes on which his former wife's fate must rest in part. It was as though he had cast many years from his shoulders, and again was back in law school, mastering the mysteries of Blackstone and of other masters.

To Los Angeles—calloused by film life and skeptical—Ralph Obenchain already is a hero. They have taken him to their hearts, this city where the sham is coined to dollars.

To interviewers Obenchain today still talked as freely as he did yesterday. The burden of his talk, too, still was Madelynn.

Never Deceived Him.

"I know she's innocent. I don't believe the stories that I've heard about her—I never did believe. She didn't deceive me. She told me every time of everything she did. I knew of Burch. I knew of Kennedy. She concealed nothing from me. If she had—perhaps things might be different.

"She told me of her infatuation with Kennedy. We talked things over that way honestly and clearly. That's the best way, isn't it? Wouldn't the world be better off if every one did those things?

"So much of this stuff that they've printed is pure bunk—I wonder where they get it? They talk of Madelynn about to be a mother. It's impossible, I tell you—there is at least one doctor now in Evanston who knows that beyond a question of a doubt.

Knew of Burch's Visits.

"They talk of visits Burch made to her at her home. I knew of them. I knew of Kennedy—I didn't like him. And now that through investigation I have found out what he was—well, if I had known——

"Even after her divorce, Madelynn came to me to get advice. I was her confidante. She knew that she could talk to me honestly and plainly and that I would understand. This stuff that I've been deluded just isn't so—I wish you'd tell them that.

"I know just what I'm doing and just why. She wanted a divorce and I wanted to see her happy—so she got it. Is there anything wrong in that? And I still want to see her happy.

"The crime of the whole thing is that officials here apparently have decided that Burch killed Kennedy at Madelynn's behest. They decided that before they even dipped into the case. The two are pre-condemned. They didn't have a chance to make an explanation. And with their arrests—there hasn't been any further inquiry except in respect to their relations with the dead man.

"I'm going to find out who killed Kennedy and why. I'm going to bare his life so every one can know just what he was. And in that baring I expect to find the solution of the crime."

Madelynn Forgets Worries.

Madelynn, in jail, today had recovered all the sparkling gayety known to her friends and acquaintances. It was as though with the arrival of Obenchain she had laid her worries aside. Burch, across the corridor, in conference with his father, the Rev. William A. Burch, was the same. Complacent, flippant almost, he apparently derived amusement from the throngs of visitors gathered outside to see him.

The defense gained another point tonight when E. A. Rosenthal, pawn broker, said to have identified the gun stock found in the waters of Santa Monica bay as one sold by him between July 25 and 28, failed to identify Burch as the purchaser.

Reports originating in Chicago that A. A. Theobald, who for eighteen years owned a candy store and soda fountain in Evanston much patronized by Northwestern university students, had recently lent Burch a large sum of money were denied here by both Theobald and Burch.

SEEK DEPOSITIONS HERE

Harry Lawrence, attorney and special investigator of the Los Angeles state's attorney's office, reached Evanston yesterday prepared to take depositions of witnesses or to arrange for subpœnas.

Mr. Lawrence learned several important details during the day. He ascertained definitely that Arthur C. Burch left Chicago at 9 o'clock the night of July 21 from the Chicago and Northwestern railroad station, taking the Los Angeles limited. Burch was driven to Chicago from the home of his parents in Evanston. His father and mother accompanied him to the station, taking his baggage along. It contained no shotgun.

Mr. Lawrence said that he will not interview Harry Bartlett, former Evanston justice of the peace, who has informed newspapers that he saw Burch ride into Chicago at 8 a. m. July 21 on the elevated railroad, carrying a shotgun case strapped to his suit case.

Refutes Son's Story.

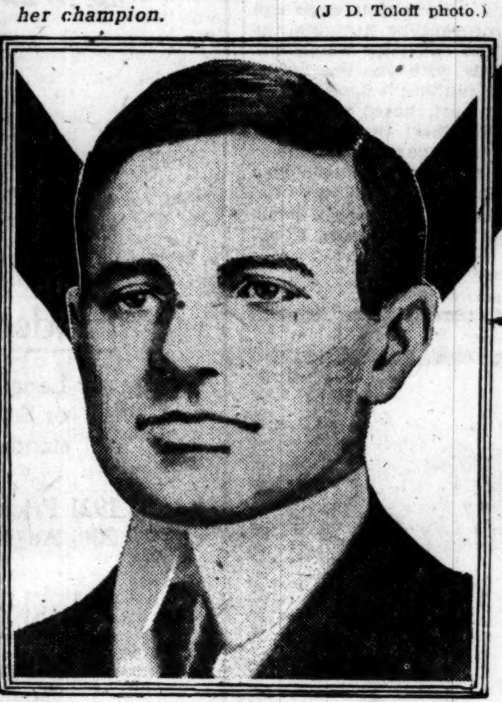
Mrs. W. H. Treloar, 134 Main street, denied the alleged statements of her son, Gustav, that Mrs. Obenchain maintained a somewhat disreputable flat in the apartment building.

"Gus never knew Mrs. Obenchain, Burch, nor any others in the case," she said. "The whole tale is absurd."

Richard Thain, department manager of a loop store, had the highest praise last night for Mrs. Obenchain, to whom he subleased his apartment in Evanston last summer.

Mrs. John Childs, a neighbor of Mrs Obenchain, said: "She always was ladylike." Mrs. Beverly Person said that Mrs. Obenchain never had company after 10 p. m.

Mrs. Shotwell's disposition was taken and will be introduced into the trial. Madelynn lived at the dormitory conducted by Mrs. Shotwell while she attended Northwestern university.



John Belton Kennedy. Son of fine parents. The "one great love" of Madelynn. Shot down during an evening tryst. For his death Madelynn and Burch must answer. And Obenchain is to help them. This picture was reproduced from a small snapshot.

YANKS CHAFE AS BRITISH DELAY FLIGHT OF ZR-2

HOWDEN, England, Aug. 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—The American crew of the airship ZR-2 is chafing at the prolonged delay by the British builders in the final tryout of the airship, which, it was stated authoritatively early tonight, would be impossible for another thirty-six hours at least.

Fears that unforeseen contingencies may prevent the start of the ZR-2 on its transoceanic voyage to the United States until the storms of the changing season set in, making navigation of the Atlantic ocean airways extremely hazardous, have increased the impatience of the Americans.

Cancellations of the plans for the final proving flight from day to day are announced due to "ground puffs," but what the airmen say they fear most are "lows," which to them means atmospheric low pressure areas.

The residents of this quiet Yorkshire village regret the impending departure of the Americans who have been undergoing intensive instructional training here for many months. Eight Yorkshire women, the brides of enlisted members of the crew, will follow their husbands to new homes in the United States.

PARK POLICEMAN FREED.

South Park Policemen B. A. Redmond and Henry F. Speaker, for whom warrants were obtained after they were said to have been unnecessarily rough in breaking up a meeting of the "Bug club" in Washington park, were discharged for want of prosecution by Judge Hayes yesterday.

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 16.

President Harding announced today that Senator Lodge will be one of the members of the American delegation to take part in the Washington conference. Opposition to the appointment of a woman member was expressed by Representative Alice Robertson and Miss Florence King of Chicago.

Secretary Weeks has received another and better offer for the government plants at Muscle Shoals, but withholds for the present the name of the corporation.

The majority report from the house ways and means committee on the tax will contain estimates showing the loss in revenue during the fiscal year 1922 will amount to only $193,640,000, but that by 1923 the loss will run up to $790,330,000.

By a rising vote of 96 to 54 the house went on record against any interference with home brewing and distilling for personal use.

Heated protests were made by representatives of the railroad brotherhoods when the senate interstate commerce committee refused to grant them a hearing in the railroad relief bill.

The senate by a vote of 38 to 18, voted to take a recess on Aug. 24 until Sept. 21.

Secretary of Labor Davis reported to the senate that 5,735,000 persons are out of employment in the United States.

According to the weather reports, Chicago has been the victim of many degrees excess temperature so far this year. And a lot of it came in the past two or three months. It saves heating up the kitchen for pies and puddings and makes an attractive dish.

LEGION CHIEFS MEET TODAY TO HALT "GYPPING"

Board Will Rule on All Relief Affairs.

The Tribune prints each day on its editorial page a department of The Friend of the Ex-Service Men.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

"SAY IT WITH JOBS"

An anti-gypping board for the protection of ex-service men and the public is scheduled to be the outcome of a meeting today of Cook county commanders of Legion posts. It is regarded as one of the prime essentials in the movement for relief of jobless and fundless veterans.

The idea is to create a central body through which the established and reputable veterans' fraternal organizationes may pass upon the money raising schemes which in the name of "relief and aid" are flooding the city. It will be enabled by coöperation to sit down hard on fly-by-night groups which are seeking to fatten by working the "sympathy racket" to a fare-ye-well. By exercising surveillance it will throw the searchlights on "relief" enterprises, which eat up 80 to 90 per cent of the cake, through overhead, administration, etc., leaving 10 to 20 per cent of the dough for the actual relief of the soldiers.

Expose Distress Profiteers.

Exploiters of other kinds who are commercializing the distress of the jobless ex-service men and the sympathetic response of the public—like for instance the button concern which gave the ex-soldiers half a penny each for each ten cent button sold, some 8 cents in profits being salted away by the various promoters, the cost of making the buttons running between 1½ and 2 cents—likewise will have the light of publicity splashed over them.

"Gougers, macers, sandbaggers, leeches—we'll run them out." That is the word at the quarters of the Buck Privates, the Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the World's War Veterans, and the rest of the organizations which will participate in the establishment of a central board.

Clinnin Halts One Scheme.

"Paper" societies will also be looked into diligently. Yesterday the National Ex-Service Men's Relief, Inc., which for the last week or so has been housed in the quarters of the Women's League of Chicago, 109 North Dearborn street, agreed to give up the ghost. Col. John V. Clinnin, assistant United States district attorney, called in its president, A. B. Cory, and said he understood that the National Ex-Service Men's Relief, Inc., was selling tickets for an "autumn frolic" for the benefit of ex-service men. He said he understood 40 per cent of the sale of tickets went to the men selling them, and that of the rest too little trickled through as actual relief.

"Either stop selling the tickets or I shall take the case before the grand jury," said Col. Clinnin. Cory's answer was that the organization would not only stop the sale but that it would go out of business, Col. Clinnin said.

"Christian Army" Arrested.

"Brig. Gen." Charles Thomas of the "Christian army," 1143 West Adams street, and Charles McAllister, former member of the 24th motor transport company, recently arrived in Chicago from Philadelphia, were brought in by agents of the department of justice and were held in $1,000 bonds each for further hearing when they appeared before United States Commissioner James R. Glass. The charge was that of violating the laws regarding the wearing of the United States uniform.

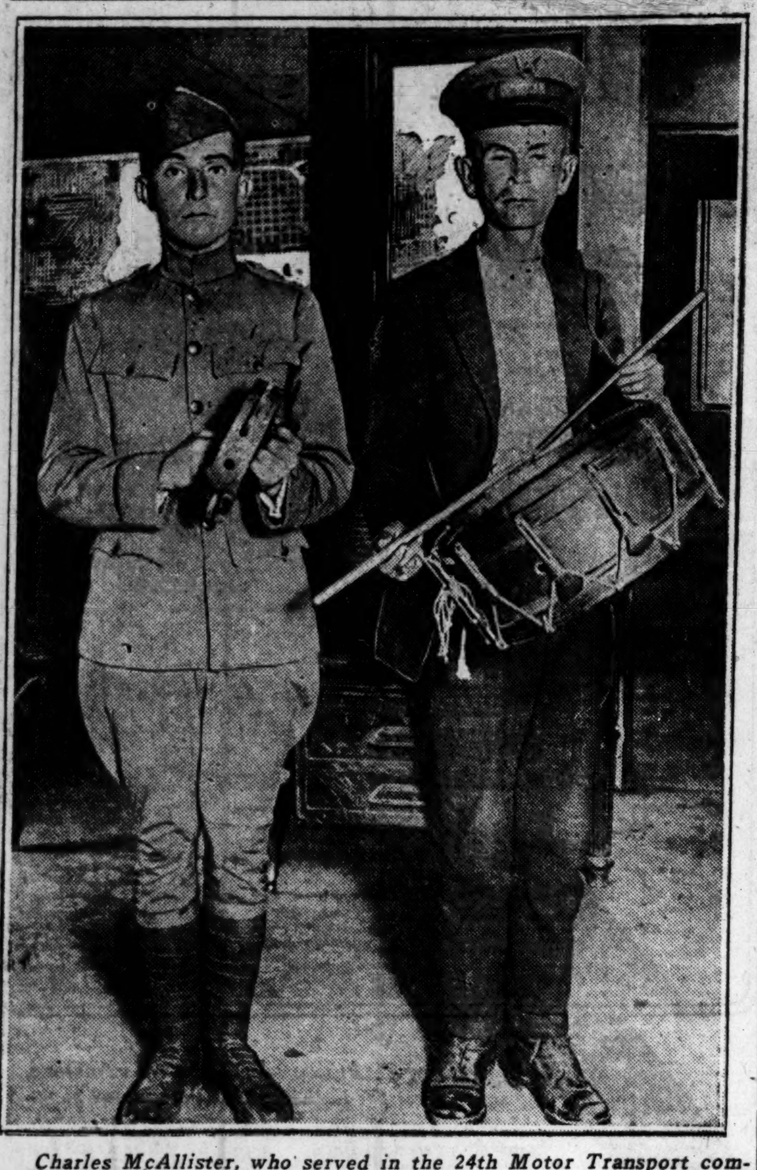
When taken in the two men, it was charged, were wearing parts of uniforms while soliciting money and clothes for ex-soldiers. "Brig Gen." Thomas, who was rattling a snaredrum in the loop, when brought before Commissioner Glass had on a cap with a crest of the government and two uniform buttons, while his colleague was decked out in a full uniform with braid on the cuffs.

They said in forty-five minutes they had collected $5.67, and Thomas said sixty ex-soldiers a day have been fed at 756 West Adams street on the proceeds of his soliciting.

Placement of veterans in jobs kept up the old clip yesterday, and the next move will be to step on the accelerator. More and more men are applying for positions at the Legion, the Buck Privates, THE TRIBUNE service department, and other employment quarters. All bureaus again chorus a plea to the employer who has a job to offer:

"List your job with only one employment bureau. If you list it with more than one it means two, three, or even four men scurrying after the same job."

A VANQUISHED "ARMY"



Charles McAllister, who served in the 24th Motor Transport company, and "Brig. Gen." Charles Thomas. They were arrested yesterday by federal officers for wearing army uniforms. They had drummed up $5.67 for the "Christian army." They claimed the "army" is feeding ex-service men.

U. S. HAS MORE THAN 5,700,000 JOBLESS—DAVIS

Secretary of Labor Replies to Senate Query.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The number of persons out of employment in the United States has reached an estimated total of 5,735,000.

These figures were furnished to the senate today by Secretary of Labor Davis in response to the resolution of Senator McCormick of Illinois, adopted several weeks ago.

Mr. Davis was unable to comply with the request contained in the resolution for an estimate of the number of unemployed ex-service men or the number of women out of jobs. The number of factory workers out of employment in Illinois he reported to be 203,000.

Unemployment Recalls 1914.

Unemployment is climbing close to the high water mark of 1914, when the jobless were estimated to number about 7,000,000, the secretary said. In some industries unemployment conditions already equal those of 1914, and in a few they are worse, it was stated.

Senator McCormick issued a statement, following receipt of the labor department's report, to the effect that unless something can be done to check the growth of unemployment it will reach the 1914 peak next winter.

"The unemployment is progressive," Senator McCormick said. "At the present rate of progression we shall have as many unemployed next winter as there were unemployd in the winter of 1914.

Depression World-Wide.

"There can be no immediate and radical cure in the present economic depression, which is world wide and from which some countries which did not even enter the great war are suffering more severely than the United States. Nevertheless, I believe that steps can be taken to prevent or mitigate the actual want and suffering which will touch thousands with the coming of cold weather, if nothing is done."

Mr. Davis' report, based upon data compiled by Ethelbert Stewart, chief statistician of the department of labor, classified the number of unemployed according to industry as follows:

Manufacturing and mechanical industries (including building trades), 3,900,000.
Mining, 250,000.
Transportation, 800,000.
Trade and clerical workers, 450,000.
Domestic and personal service, 335,000.
Total, 5,735,000.

Can't Get Exact Figures.

The report stated that these figures "must be accepted as an estimate, as it is almost impossible to obtain exact figures because of frequent fluctuations."

Data also were furnished to show the increase of unemployment during the first half of 1921. In the manufacturing and mechanical industries, it was estimated that there 3,473,000 fewer persons employed in January, 1921, than in January, 1920. By July, 1921, the decrease in the manufacturing and mechanical industries had reached 3,906,450, according to the report.

The department estimated that there are about 160,000 coal miners out of work, while many others are working part time. It added that there was much "slack" in the mining of iron, copper and other minerals so that the total of 250,000 men out of work in mining was "a conservative estimate." The unemployed railroad workers were estimated to number 700,000.

All of the department's estimates were relative to the peak of employment in January, 1920, it was explained, so that the actual number of regular workers out of employment probably would be somewhat less than the 5,735,000 figure.

Conditions in Illinois.

In Illinois, the number of factory workers unemployed, in June, 1921, as compared with March, 1920, was 203,000; in Ohio, the number was 204,000; in Pennsylvania, 371,000; in Michigan, 108,000; in Wisconsin, 78,000; in Indiana, 79,000; in Minnesota, 37,000; in Iowa, 25,000.

Board Fixes 10% to 25% Pay Cut for Paper Mills

New York, Aug. 16.—Wage reductions ranging from 10 per cent for skilled men to 25 per cent for common labor were agreed upon today by the board of arbitration considering the wage dispute between union paper mill workers and eleven newsprint manufacturing companies. The award, which fixed 40 cents an hour rate for outside common labor, affects about 12,000 workers and will becoe effective Aug. 22.

The International Paper company was not a party to the agreement.

HARDING SAID TO FROWN ON TAX BILL CHANGE

Wants 1921 Promises Kept, Is Report.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Although official estimates submitted to the house today in the majority report of the ways and means committee indicated that the postponement of the repeal of the excess profits tax and reduction of the higher surtaxes to Jan. 1, 1922, would make it much less difficult for the treasury to meet expenditures there were rumors that the administration may seek to reverse the action of the Republican house caucus.

It was made known that President Harding has been desirous that all the income tax changes should be retroactive on income of the calendar year 1921. The action of the caucus yesterday to the contrary was taken over the protest of those who had consulted with the President on the matter. It is the view of the administration that the party has been committed to a revision of the tax laws which would apply to 1921 income.

In view of the close vote in the caucus a reversal of its action may be possible on the floor of the house.

The ways and means committee formally approved the bill today by a straight party vote.

Estimating the New Revenue.

The revised estimates, as submitted by Representative Fordney in the majority report of the ways and means committee, indicate that the net loss in revenue during the fiscal year 1922 will amount to only $193,640,000. The net loss during the calendar year 1922 will be $377,790,000. Beginning with the calendar year 1923, the net loss annually will be $790,330,000, which is referred to in the report as a saving of $7 per capita, or $35 for the average family.

The total revenue from the taxes provided under the new bill, it is estimated will be $3,376,360,000 for the fiscal year 1922. The estimated revenue under the present law would be $3,570,000,000.

Anticipating the Balance Sheet.

Adding the estimated yield under the new bill to $370,000,000 expected from customs and $487,643,000 from miscellaneous sources, the total revenue, exclusive of postal receipts, would be $4,427,643,000. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has estimated that the expenditures on the basis of the contemplated reductions of $520,000,000 proposed at the recent White House conference will be $4,034,000,000. Without the proposed $350,000,000 in departmental expenditures and $170,000,000 in public debt expenditures, the total for the year would be $4,544,000,000.

Revenues from internal taxes will drop to $2,779,660,000 in 1923 when the full net loss of $790,330,000 is felt.

The eventual annual losses in revenue under the new bill total $968,080,000. This is partly offset by new taxes yielding $177,750,000.

Where the Losses Will Show.

The losses are enumerated as follows:

Repeal of excess profits tax, $450,000,000; reduction of surtax rates on individual incomes (maximum 32 per cent), $10,000,000; increased exemption of heads of families, to $2,500 for incomes not in excess of $5,000, $40,000,000; additional exemption for dependents increased to $400, from $200, $30,000,000; repeal of tax on transportation (freight, passenger, and express), as of Jan. 1, 1922, $262,000,000; repeal of tax on life insurance, $6,300,000; beverages, $60,000,000; excise taxes, sporting goods, $2,000,000; candy, $8,000,000; electric fans, $25,000; fur articles, $4,510,000; luxuries $15,000,000.

The gains in revenue are listed as follows:

Increase of corporation income tax from 10 per cent to 12½ per cent, $133,750,000; license tax on sellers of soft drinks, $10,000,000; tax of 6 cents on cereal beverages, $12,000,000; 5 cents on carbonic acid gas, $2,000,000; 2 cents a gallon on fruit juices of soft drinks and of 3 cents on still drinks, $12,000,000; change in section 907, perfumery, cosmetics, and proprietary medicines, $8,000,000.

LIFE OF UNIONS CALLED STAKE AT ERIE SHOPS

U. S. Ruling Asked on Marion (O.) Case.

Marion, O., Aug. 16.—With the situation growing out of establishment of new working conditions in the Erie railroad shops here and their subsequent operation by the Railway Service company, characterized by union officials as a life and death fight for the principle of unionism, former shop employés of the railroad today sought to have some light thrown upon their status, under the Esch-Cummins act.

Former shopmen who left the Erie when they refused to comply with orders establishing the ten hour day, discontinuing Sunday overtime pay and requiring physical examinations, and who have not accepted employment with the new operating concern, today laid their case before B. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor.

Want Federal Ruling.

Mr. Jewell was asked in a letter to take the matter up with the railroad labor board and request that the present status of the men be defined.

In a statement, union leaders declared that their efforts were not directed at the Railway Service company as such, but towards reëstablishment of the eight hour working day and overtime rates of pay for Sunday work, both discontinued by the Erie on Aug. 7, and not reëstablished when the service company took over operation of the shops yesterday.

Guards stationed around the shop buildings last night remained on duty throughout the day, but there was no sign of trouble of any kind.

Won't "Obey Rules," Fired.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 16.—Roundhouse employés at Kent, who would not obey Erie railroad rules as to physical examinations and Sunday work without overtime pay, have been dismissed, and their places filled with new men.

JEWELL DISCUSSES CASE.

B. M. Jewell in Chicago yesterday said the Erie railroad had misinterpreted some ruling of the railroad labor board, and, acting on that mistake, had cut off the Sunday overtime pay and resumed physical examinations as essential to employment.

Fail in Effort to Bomb Huge Dam in Washington

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 16.—Failure of a bomb containing seventy-three pounds of TNT to explode behind a dam at Leavenworth, Wash., is believed to have prevented the possible loss of many lives and destruction of property worth millions, according to a report published by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer tonight.

4 IN SEAPLANE RISE 20,000 FEET; BREAK ALTITUDE RECORDS

Port Washington, N. Y., Aug. 16.—A new altitude record for seaplanes was claimed today when a monoplane flying yacht, piloted by Commander David McCulloch, U. S. N., and carrying three passengers, reached an altitude of 20,000 feet. Freezing temperature prevented the flyers, who were dressed in summer attire, from going higher. It ascended in forty-eight minutes.

Massacres of Jews Are Renewed in Russia

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By the Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Massacres of Jews are continuing in the towns and hamlets throughout White Russia, according to a dispatch to the London Daily Telegraph.

"Bands of peasants and deserters from the Red army continue to carry out violence pogroms against the Jews in the small towns and hamlet of White Russia," says the correspondent. "There are lists of dozens of such pogroms, all which were accompanied by violence, rape, and murder.

"The soviet is powerless against such excesses, as its influence does not go further than to a few large towns garrisoned by strong detachments of the Red army. Refugees report that the executioners often hack their victims to pieces with great axes."

Seized on Charge of Theft of $15,000 Worth of Fords

George Hansel, 28 years old, 1201 South Western avenue, who is charged with having stolen and sold more than $15,000 worth of Ford automobiles since April 1, was taken into custody last night.

Hansel is said to have admitted stealing an automobile a day.

HUSBAND'S SHOTS ECHO OF PARTY IN NEIGHBOR'S FLAT

William Forman, owner of the Sheridan-Plaza garage, and Robert White of 5055 Sheridan road were arrested last night following a shooting affray at the home of Lawrence Smith, 814 Sunnyside avenue. Nobody was hurt, but it took the police of the town hall station about an hour to make the arrests.

There had been a party at the home of Smith, which was attended by Mrs. Ethel Forman, wife of William. White also was a guest. Mrs. Forman and White had a quarrel and Mrs. Forman called up her husband. Forman and White met in front of Smith's flat and after a row Forman took a shot at White. White retreated into the Smith home and, leaning out of the window, hurled imprecations at Forman, who fired three times at White, but didn't hit him.

Forman then ran into his home at 816 Sunnyside avenue and when the police came he refused to come out, demanding that they obtain a warrant. Mrs. Forman supplemented this by saying she "would shoot the first man who entered." The police finally broke in the door and learned Mrs. Forman had no gun. They took Forman along.

Three Dead, 8 Wounded When Negro Runs Amuck

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 16.—Three persons are dead and eight are known to have been wounded in a clash here late today between whites and Negroes. The disturbance began with the killing of Ben T. Hightower, manager of a local wagon works, by Walter Smalley, Negro chauffeur, who later ran amuck, firing indiscriminately at white persons before being slain himself. The known wounded are all white men. Two Negroes are reported to have been wounded and an unidentified white woman is said to have been shot.

CORONER WAITS MORE FACTS ON PAGEANT DEATH

Coroner Peter M. Hoffman refused yesterday to take any action to reopen the inquest into the death of Mrs. Winifred Bagley until more positive evidence that the verdict of the jury was incorrect is produced.

Mrs. Bagley, wife of an employé of the Burns Detective agency, died on the Municipal pier during the Pageant of Progress while demonstrating an X-ray machine.

After the inquest in which a verdict of heart disease was returned, the husband made charges that he had discovered burns on the hands of his wife and that she really had been electrocuted by grasping an exposed electric wire.

"There is absolutely no evidence that Mrs. Bagley died anything but a natural death," said Coroner Hoffman.

CRUELTY CHARGE WINS DIVORCE.

That her husband struck her and told her that she could receive her company at the back door was the testimony of Mrs. Violet Knipple of 2857 North Sacramento avenue yesterday, which won her a decree of divorce from Edwin Knipple before Judge Samuel Stough.

GERMAN PEACE PARLEY WITH U.S. STRIKES A SNAG

Berlin Refuses to Take War Blame Again.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1921: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—German-American peace negotiations have reached an extremely critical phase, almost amounting to a deadlock, owing to the American demand that the treaty must include a new declaration stating that Germany alone was responsible for the war, according to information received from authoritative sources.

Although the fact is known to a part of the press, the German government, fearing the effects of publicity, has been able to restrain publication.

Menace to Cabinet.

It is declared in leading political circles that if the Wirth cabinet accepted the conditions, it would be overthrown immediately, owing to the fact that all political parties in Germany and an innumerable group of factions are demanding that an international neutral court investigate the archives of all countries that participated in the war.

These groups will not accept a government that reiterates a declaration of war guilt before the court has decided on it.

Some groups go so far as to demand the German government try actively to counteract the general accepted belief in its war guilt.

Ebert Seeks Compromise.

The government is seeking desperately for a satisfactory solution with the hope that a formula acceptable to Washington will be found by having the new treaty contain no reference to the guilt question other than a reference to the acknowledgment already given at Versailles.

When this main obstacle to normal relations between America and Germany is removed, the unsettled economic problem will be discussed.

German circles have greeted Frank Vanderlip's arrival in Berlin with great hopes for quick peace settlement. Now they are gloomy and downcast, feeling sure new obstacles have arisen in the last few days.

POLITICS AND TAX REVISION.

The Republican caucus evidently had an attack of cold feet when it reversed the decision of the house ways and means committee to make certain tax revision apply to 1921. The attack is understandable if regrettable. There is no doubt that a sound and strictly scientific revision, if such could be evolved, would be "poor politics" unless and until its benefits appeared. In a field of legislation like taxation, perhaps the most difficult problem of government, "good politics" is bad economics, and good economics is "bad politics." Good politics may demand a form of taxation which seems to tax the rich, though the fact may be that the tax does not work out that way.

The excess profits tax seems to have proved to be that sort of a tax. It was invented to make business which profited by war conditions bear the largest possible share of the cost of the war. Nothing could seem juster than that. But so far as the tax operated its effect was to encourage extravagant expenditure in business and to give excuse for pyramiding prices. The higher surtaxes on income were devised to reach those most able to bear the abnormal burden of war taxation, but they seem to have had the contrary effect of turning investment into tax exempt public securities. This avoids the intention of the law and turns a good deal of capital from private enterprise which needs it to public enterprise which may not be urgent and is likely to be wastefully administered.

Yet to such of the public as accepted the theory upon which these taxes were imposed and have no knowledge of how the theory broke down, repeal means the escape of the profiteer and the very rich.

Party tactics and demagogy alike seize on such a misapprehension, and where the subject is as difficult as taxation it is easier to attack than defend.

Nevertheless congress has a clear duty to make such revision of ineffective and obstructive taxes as experience and the best expert opinion indicate. It isn't pleasant to invite partisan attack and misinterpretation. But the business of the country is in a condition in which restoratives are greatly needed and mistaken taxation is one of its burdens. The situation is serious enough, in spite of the fact that the worst is probably over, to require action by our representatives even if it be misconstrued at first. Nevertheless if the right thing is done it should materially assist a business recovery which will answer misinterpretation and justify duty courageously done.

But the most important thing now, it seems to us, is to come to a decision. It is a pity the tax problem was not attacked first in the congressional program, but that is past regret. Now business waits to know what it must meet and the sooner it knows the better. We hope the relief worked out will be effective. Mistakes will be made. Disappointments are more than likely. The tax burden must continue to weigh heavily on us all. But uncertainty is the worst handicap and we trust it will be soon ended, so far as it can be by revision legislation.

We think when this pressing task is performed congress should begin to consider the knotty problem of tax exemption which defeated the excess profits tax and is bound to be occasion of justified discontent.

BORAH AND BLAH.

Senator Borah, again criticizing the policy which keeps even the skeleton of an army in the United States, says that unless the announced examination of 1,000 commissioned officers is stopped by action of the military committee he will introduce a bill canceling it. He says 14,000 officers are ample for any army of 150,000 men.

Mr. Borah is an irreconcilable. He is for splendid isolation. He is an American Sinn Feiner—"for ourselves alone." He is for the repeal of the Panama canal tolls for American shipping. This is another kind of isolation. It is provocative isolation. It not only does an injustice to the midwest but it makes other nations mad. He is against the army. This is still another kind of isolation. It is defenseless isolation.

Borah is bullheaded, brash, and weak. He seeks to combine a high degree of offensiveness with the lowest possible degree of effectiveness. In him is the dangerous combination of brilliant speaking and false thinking. He talks so well that even the other senators listen to what he says and the Washington correspondents report what he says. Therefore he is influential, and with his increasing influence his determination to talk without thinking increases.

He has one set of ideas which would require national strength if they are to be safe and another set of ideas which demand national weakness. The United States should stand alone. It should tell everybody to go to the devil and should do as it pleases. It should reduce itself to a condition of military imbecility. Mr. Borah tells the world he is some statesman.

If there is a Simple Simon in the country who can beat Borah's military reasoning we'd like his photograph for the rotogravure section. He will not stand for an army of sufficient size. He would cut it down and cut it down. When a nation has destroyed its army it then relies upon its ability to raise one. The ability to raise one depends upon the ability to teach the recruits. Mr. Borah insists that the United States shall rely on recruits and then insists that there shall be no teachers to train them and no one to lead them.

He wants to destroy the army and then destroy the ability to raise, train, discipline, and lead one. He says that 14,000 officers are enough for an army of 150,000 men. We have just demobilized an army of over 4,000,000. If we get into trouble again we'll need an army again. If Borah has his way we shall have neither the army nor the officers' corps which might hurry a recruited army into some sort of shape.

At the best it would not be good, but with a proper number of well educated officers it might be possible. Borah wants us flat on our back. As the army is decreased the greater is the need of officers. The need is not related to the force which exists. It is related to the force which would be required and does not exist. In any serious trouble 150,000 men do not constitute an army. They would be just about enough to furnish noncoms for men who had no training.

Mr. Borah opens himself to the suspicion that he objects to officers because they command and discipline the plain people. It may be better for the American people on occasions to take commands and disciplining from officers of the United States than from officers of an enemy nation. It is said to be a pleasanter experience.

LAWLESS STRONGER THAN LAW.

The Nineteenth ward continues to prove that murder unpunished produces murder. The retaliation is by the lawless and not by the law, and that retaliation increases the crime. A murder may result in the execution of justice or it may result in a dozen other murders and our communities permit the latter consequence.

It will not stop until by some successful effort the law and not the lawless punishes. In the Nineteenth ward the quarrel is a political one of Italians. The immunity of the criminals is partly granted by the timidity of people who might give the police information. That timidity is understandable.

Sinacola, the latest victim of Nineteenth ward murder, was killed because it had become known that he was about to tell what he knew of the preceding murders. The police were about to get evidence and the murderers removed the evidence.

The lawless Italians are more powerful than the law. The police cannot prevent a murder or punish a murderer and the people who might give evidence have no reason to believe that the police could protect them after the evidence had been given. They might do so for a while, but the person betraying a murderer would expect to be met in his turn by men with guns and to furnish another case for the police.

The law has a short memory and seems to have a short arm, while the lawless have long memories and seem to have a long arm. When this condition is reversed a murder may result in a hanging. Until then it probably will result in a dozen other murders.

MISUSE OF AMERICAN RELIEF.

The soviet authorities profess to be fearful that the relief agencies of the United States will be utilized to foment a counter revolution. There is reason, on our hand, to believe that soviet control of relief will be used for the benefit of the soviet army and soviet partisans at the expense of the more needy.

The soviet army and party have had the best obtainable ever since the bolsheviki took charge of Russian affairs and determined to dispose of all opposition by the simple device of starving or murdering all their opponents. The Red army has been kept loyal by being well fed and clothed. The Communist officials, high and low, have lived as well as their tastes and revolutionary conditions permitted. The faithful proletarians of the bolshevik party have had the best of the rationing and whatever perquisites and privileges were available. To maintain the minority, the minority must be taken care of, and it is probable, if not certain, that if the soviet can get hands on relief it will be used for the purpose of buttressing itself.

But American relief is offered for the suffering regardless of party, and whatever the soviet may be justified in suspecting as to the intentions of European governments there is little excuse for the charge that American relief workers are plotting to set up a counter revolution. We have a right to demand that the soviet shall not use our relief for its own political purposes, and if we cannot have conditions which will enable our agencies to prevent such misuse there will be no disposition on the part of the American people to contribute.

The Russian situation is tragic, and we would not withhold aid or impose unfair or ulterior conditions. But we certainly cannot permit our resources to be diverted from humanitarian objects to add to the injustice and cruelty of soviet policy or to fortify its destructive control of Russian affairs.

Editorial of the Day

CANADA AT THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

[Kingston (Ont.) Standard.]

The editorial suggestion of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the New York Times and other representative American newspapers that the overseas dominions of the British empire shall be invited by President Harding to participate in the disarmament conference at Washington as separate units, quite independent of the mother country, is one that we feel sure will be cordially seconded by the American people generally and just as cordially adopted by President Harding.

It would be an act almost of international injustice to refuse to these dominions seats at such a conference, and especially in the cases of Canada, Australia and New Zealand, who have a direct and very personal interest in any decisions that may be arrived at in respect of disarmament or the Pacific question. Not only that, but the American people will not soon forget, as our own people can never forget, the sacrifices in blood and treasure that these dominions, without hesitation or delay, made in the great world war, which the then President of the United States characterized as a war "to make the world safe for democracy." If these dominions were worthy enough then, and valiant enough, to help hold back the onsweeping Hun hordes and, finally, to play a not ignoble part in bringing about the victory for civilization and humanity, they surely are worthy of places at the council table of the sister nations who were their allies in this great war.

YES, HOW DO YOU!

An American in dear old London was bragging about his auto. He ended his eulogy by declaring:

"It runs so smoothly you can't feel it, so quietly that you can't hear it, it has such perfect ignition you can't smell it, and as for speed—boy, you can't see it!"

"But my word, old dear," interrupted the Briton, anxiously, "how do you know the bally thing is there?"—American Legion Weekly.

NOTHING since Mr. Mill upset the syllogism has so visibly affected London critics as E. V. Lucas' lamentable lapse in Roving East and West. They are, in a manner of speaking, giving him the condign rawspberry. In his American chapters he substitutes the Prince of Wales for the Belgian king's consort in the immortal incident, wherein a New York official's wife, listening to the royal encomium of the city, ecstatically exclaims: "Queen, you've said a mouthful."

Even the Board Groaned.
[From the Vicksburg, Miss., Herald.]

The club arrived shortly after 2 o'clock and found spread beneath the shade of immense cottonwood trees, in a beautiful grove, a dinner such as only kings and builders could afford. The day was ideal; clouds tempered the heat of the sun, a gentle breeze played amongst the branches of the cottonwood trees, and the murmuring leaves sang a pean of joy, in tune with the hearts of the assembled guests, in praise of the bountiful hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Simrall.

THE exchange editor paused to borrow our scissors and left the, as the British gazettes say, cutting, from the Peoria, Ill., Journal: "Mrs. Hazel Blessing of Peoria is visiting her mother, Mrs. U. Smell."

SILHOUETTE.

Jackson Park Golf links any Saturday morning: Time, five thirty or earlier; sleepy men and women reclining in chairs, ready to sign up for following week; sun showing rosy red on horizon, reflecting its rays on French's golden Statue of Liberty; saucy, chirpy robins hopping around on dewy grass, players already teeing off; refectory well patronized by hungry crowds, demolishing egg sandwiches, doughnuts, pie à la mode; tantalizing aroma of steaming coffee assailing olfactory organs of waiting, anxious line; ticket office open at last; orderly procession of weary waiters; exultant joy of those who attain the gates of happiness; disappointment to many who don't; list filled; crowds disperse; this is the life. G. R. S.

CHARLES LAMB would have loved this, from H. M. T. in the Athenæum:

Consider Edward Thomas and his "Tall Nettles":

"Tall nettles cover up, as they have done
These many springs, the rusty harrow, the plough
Long worn out, and the roller made of stone:
Only the elm butt tops the nettles now.

"This corner of the farmyard I like most:
As well as any bloom upon a flower
I like the dust on the nettles, never lost
Except to prove the sweetness of a shower."

That is what I had always thought about the nettles in that corner of the yard; but it seemed so odd a liking that I never mentioned it, thinking that, like any dream to any Freudian, it were better to keep it to myself. But the corner, with the nettles and the elm butt, to me and to another man who went the same road as Thomas, was strangely attractive, and we noticed the dust on the nettles, and the way they proved the sweetness of a shower. I haven't cared to go to that corner for some years, but went again after reading Thomas, taking the book with me, to read to the nettles a common thought, a tribute, and a reminder of the past . . . . But they had gone. The yard is now labeled Jobbam Manufacturing company, and it is full of dark blocks of concrete, and of ashes that no rain would ever sweeten.

DUNELAND.

A wisp of grass in the sifting sand
Where a broken oar-blade lies,
A wave that tosses a long white hand
Where a gypsie seagull cries.

Oh, the trail that leads from the haunts of men
Is the trail I've longed to see,
For it takes me back to the hills again
Where my lost youth waits for me.

A fragrance creeps from the piney deeps
And the old lake softly croons
A lay it sung when the world was young
As it is in the virgin dunes.

THE POISON IVY EXPERT.

DR. J. B. M'NAIR seems to have constituted himself a poison ivy specialist. At least he writes more and better on the subject than any one else does. He and a group of California men have been working on the subject scientifically, whereas other people seem to use slap bang rule of thumb procedures. He has little faith in the washing treatments. If a person who has got the poison on his skin will get at it quickly, he can wash it off, but as a rule washing does more harm than good, since the poison has already done its work.

Among substances which dissolve the poison and which might be considered as washes are ether, chloroform, alcohol, turpentine, 80 per cent chloral and benzine. However, most of these are irritating to the skin.

Dr. McNair divides the poison ivy dermattis into three stages. The first stage is inflammation and irritation which precedes the appearance of blisters. In the second stage small blisters dominate the picture. Fortunately the third stage is not always reached. In it there is suppuration and the true skin is inflamed and destroyed.

As a first application he uses cottonseed oil or castor oil. At that stage an alcoholic solution of lead acetate or a mild application of iodine does good. A 5 per cent solution of ferric chloride (chloride of iron) in 50 per cent aqueous glycerol was found more helpful than anything in California, but they discontinued using it because it stained clothing and sheets so objectionably.

In the second degree stage local applications of dextrose, of sodium sulphite and of magnesium sulphate were found to be the best remedies. Perhaps nothing is better than to cover the blisters with cloths wrung out in a saturated solution of magnesium sulphate.

In the third stage Dr. McNair recommends that the affected skin be covered by paraffin as is done with burns.

Some people are naturally immune to poison ivy. Some acquire immunity. Some are poisoned frequently, but the inflammation never becomes very troublesome. No race is immune to it. Most lower animals are somewhat susceptible. Women are more susceptible than men. The fat more than the lean. Blondes are not more affected by it than brunettes.

Many methods of producing immunity have been tried. A notion prevails that one will become immune if he will chew the leaves. Persons have died and many have been made gravely ill from internal ivy poisoning due to trying this method. It has been claimed that drinking the milk of a cow that has eaten ivy will produce immunity. A more rational procedure is the injection of serum from a person who has recently recovered from the disease. Another procedure which may prove successful is the injection of small doses of the poison into a muscle.

BABY WHIPPING POOR SPORT.

Mrs. V. K. B. writes: "I have a baby girl just 2 years old today. Three weeks ago she recovered from diphtheria.

"1. Is it true that diphtheria always leaves some weakness after it?

"2. For the last week she has been holding her head to the left side, and at certain times when she looks up her left eye appears crossed. Can you please tell me if her sight could be affected to that extent? She is very nervous and cries a great deal.

"3. Do you advise whipping a baby who goes into spasms of temper because she cannot have something she should not have?

"4. She has been a bottle fed baby and still drinks a quart of milk every day. Is that too much?"

REPLY.

1. No.
2. She may have had a diptheretic paralysis of some few groups of muscles.
3. I would not advise you to whip this child now or soon.
4. She is old enough to begin taking less milk and a little more food of other kinds.

DEVELOP MUSCLES GRADUALLY.

X. Y. Z. writes: "1. In our school chinning is required to pass in physical training, but when I chin the bar it seems as if the muscles in my stomach and my arms are being pulled apart. How can I do this exercise without these troubles, as I chin very little?

"2. I am 14 years old and weigh 98 pounds. Is this too much, and does this interfere with the chinning?"

REPLY.

1. If you will spend some minutes each day chinning you will overcome this.
2. You do not give your height. Unless you are a very sawed off proposition your weight is not too much.

TRY EATING BRAN.

H. A. J. writes: "I am 68 years old. I have had very few natural evacuations of the bowels for several years. I have used epsom salts and other cathartics. Very often I use enemas. Will the frequent use of the latter injure my system or health?"

REPLY.

The use of enemas is preferable to epsom salts and other cathartics. However, it develops the enema habit and that is a bad one. How did you get started on salts and cathartics? But why ask? So many people of your generation did not know the harm of the cathartic habit. Instead eat plenty of bran, vegetables and fruit. If this does not suffice eat agar. If that is not enough take mineral oil.

BRAN HELPS MOST PEOPLE.

L. R. C. writes: "Is bran cooked with oatmeal eaten every morning during the year injurious to the health, or is it beneficial?"

REPLY.

Beneficial to most people.

We had a proceeding started for paving Wabansia avenue, between Cicero and Laramie avenues, but in March, 1920, the proceeding was ordered abandoned. The board of local improvements took this action because of a petition presented by the property owners.

If the property owners desire the street paved, shall be glad to hear from them.

THE MOVIE SLUMP.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—If any fault is to be found with your references today to the producers of motion pictures, it will be that you let them off too lightly. These men whine about the 4,000 theaters that are closed. Who closed them? The producers, who now pretend to bewail the fact. Before the war these theaters, few of them able to seat more than 200 persons, were able to make a profit out of a 5 cent show. Reels to fill up ninety minutes then cost something like $10 a day, so that with three shows a night the owners of these small theaters might net a clear profit of 5 to 10 dollars.

Then the producers put their heads together in secret conclave, and very soon the $10 a day rate was boosted to $25. The experience of the manager of one of these theaters will show how the 4,000 were closed. When he received notice of the boost in prices he protested. He pointed out that his 5 cent admission charge would not pay it. He was told to raise his price to 10 cents, and then when he informed the distributor that his theater was situated in a poor neighborhood where such an increase was impossible, he was met with the answer, "All right; shut up your bloomin' show." OLIVER MCEWAN.

MR. BULL'S TIPPLE.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—I read your editorial yesterday, "Is Mr. Bull Going Dry?" and it was amusing in part, but contained some things that I object to: The remark about the Scotch with the hair shirt, etc., is hardly applicable now. Those national remarks (Irish, Scotch, or Welsh) are of the last generation.

The public house in Britain is absolutely the club of the workingman. It has been so for 400 or 500 years. What will you do with him? If you take his licensed premises away from him, his club (workmen's clubs, not autocratic clubs) you leave him but the street, theater, church, or sidewalk. Properly regulate the traffic; it has been regulated for many centuries. The old bar here killed the trade; we don't want its return; but we do maintain the necessity of proper regulation—perhaps state.

With regard to Great Britain inflicting prohibition on United States (which don't prohibit), I object—it is practically anathema to every Briton. The saloon killed the saloon, together with some of its vile decoctions.

Let the United States watch its own people—that's where the change will certainly come from. J. H. BULL.

CHILDREN SHOULD BE SEEN.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—Calling the British a boob nation because they still like to retain some of the pomp and circumstance of the older days is equivalent to calling one's grandmother a boob woman because she still retains many of the mannerisms and fashions of her girlhood.

Remember, America is still in short pants and should not make fun of her elderly relations nor criticize them because of their old fashioned proclivities.
IRENE E. WILD.

AS A CURIOSITY.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—For years I have read and heard and come to believe that Thomas Edison cares less for a bed than Thompson does for THE TRIBUNE. I have understood that sleep and Edison are strangers. Thomas, they say, may sleep a few hours a day and then not even that when he is pursuing a new invention. Imagine my surprise when watching a weekly a few weeks ago that showed the camp with Ford, Harding, and Firestone sitting around and Edison was sleeping; yes, there he was in front of the camera snoozing away. Was Tommy's press agent also asleep on the job to take a picture like that or was it because Edison seldom sleeps that he wants a picture of it in action? DICK EWAN.

YES.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 12.—Your editorial of Aug. 9, entitled "What Do You Know?" strikes a responsive cord. Oftentimes the cultivation of special sense destroys or seriously hampers common sense.

I never heard of the battle of Chaeronea before, but I can tell you where Col. Cody is buried.

We might ask a few questions from the west.

Why do cowboys wear chaps?

Do surveys of mountain lands conform to surface measurements?

Does it take the same time to boil potatoes on top of Pike's Peak as at sea level, in a pressure cooker?

In an ordinary 5x7 ft. tunnel in solid rock in the case of shooting dynamite in 5 ft. holes drilled in its breast, why does not the force of the explosion blow out as in a gun, instead of breaking the rock?

Why is there a timber line at 11,500 feet elevation?

Could you afford to mine out a string of silver dollars edge to edge running through a mountain?

How high is a stack of $1,000,000?

Would the staff care to join me in a long drink of crystal sparkling Colorado mountain water?
WESTLAND ENGINEER.

BOBBING IT.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—I was very pleased to read your article in regard to bobbed hair. I have talked with my friends, and have found that they have had their hair bobbed because, as you have said, it is more sanitary, becoming, and takes less trouble, and is neater.

We girls feel that the attack on bobbed hair has been insulting to the majority of Chicago girls.

Instead of this attack on bobbed hair, would it not be more sensible to criticise the scandalous dress of some of the ignorant girls of today?
A HIGH SCHOOL GIRL.

HE GOT US.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—It must be amusing to a great many of your readers to read about the conceit of some editorial writers.

The writer of the editorial criticizing Mr. Edison's subject, "Cigarets vs. Cigars and Pipe," it is evident that Mr. Editor in question is an inexperienced junior on the tobacco question.

On the face of it he knows little about chemistry; otherwise his acquaintance with the gases created by the burning of paper would have taught him that these gases taken in excess are injurious to any one's lungs.

I am one of an army who could write a book on this subject, but what's the use?

The writer is a consistent reader of THE TRIBUNE and is surprised to hear our friend Editor, whoknows it all, commit himself in paragraph 7 of said article.

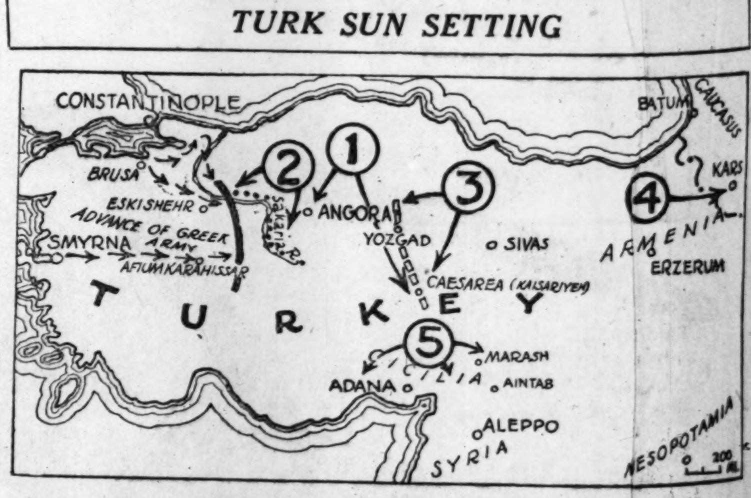
It may be possible that the advertising department has spurred him on to this article.

Is it possible that using the editorial column is a new experiment in order to foster advertising? F. C. WORTH.

TRIMMED.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Why all this racket about high prices for such commodities, nonessentials, as ice cream and candies when hair cuts are 60 cents; tonic, 15 cents; singe, 40 cents, and, to top it all, a tip of at least a dime? And we just have our hair trimmed! It surely is about time something is being done to reduce these absurd prices. Do you remember 'way back when they were 25 cents and, at some places 15?
T. H. KOEBER.

TURK SUN SETTING



CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 14.—The Turkish nationalist government has been transferred from Angora to Caesarea (Kaisariyeh), 160 miles southeast of Angora, (1) and the civil population of the nationalist capital is being evacuated because of the advance of the Greeks, says a dispatch from Angora today.

The Turks intend to make a stand against the Greeks at the Sakaria river (2) and, if this position is lost, they will fall back on Caesarea and Yozgad, (3) 85 miles to the northwest of Caesarea.

Reds Stop Battle.

KARS, Transcaucasia, Aug. 14.—Bolshevik troops stopped a battle being fought by Turks and Armenians near here today (4). The Armenians attacked remnants of the forces of Kiazim Kara Bekir, the Turkish nationalist commander in Armenia, the remainder of Kiazim's troops having been sent to Angora.

Turks and French Agree.

Angora, Anatolia, Aug. 15.—The Turkish nationalists have accepted the revised agreement with France, subject to certain slight alterations, it was announced here today. The text of the agreement was not made public.

The Turkish nationalist assembly rejected the original Franco-Turk agreement, reached in London some months ago by representatives of the two governments, under which the French agreed to withdraw from Cilicia (5). Negotiations have been in progress for some weeks looking to the formation of a new accord acceptable to the Turks.

ROBBERS HOLD UP 2 WOMEN; QUICK WIT SAVES $1,000

Pose as "Room Seekers" to Ransack Home.

Two women were the victims of holdup men yesterday. The presence of mind of Miss Rose Yore, Lake Forest, Ill., saved her $1,000. In the second robbery Mrs. Sophia Steinberg was robbed of $140 in money and $1,200 worth of jewelry.

MRS. SOPHIA STEINBERG. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Yore was on her way to the bank to make a deposit of $1,000, the day's receipts at Yore Brothers' Dairy company, of which she is secretary and her brother, Edward J. Yore, is president.

As she approached Western avenue on Fulton street an automobile in which were three men drew up to the curb. One of the men sprang out and threatened to shoot her if she did not hand over the package containing the money. She screamed and started running. The robber caught up with her and attempted to wrest the package from her grasp. It dropped to the sidewalk and she quickly fell on it. William Prescott, 4352 West Lake street, attracted by Miss Yore's screams, hurried to the scene. The robbers fled.

Robbers Pose as Room Seekers.

Two burglars, posing as applicants for a vacant room in her home, yesterday robbed Mrs. Sophia Steinberg, 1408 North Western avenue, of $140 in cash and jewels valued at $1,200 after gagging and locking her in a pantry with her 7 year old daughter, Phyllis Kaflan.

"We would like to look at a room," one said as Mrs. Steinberg opened the door to their ring. She admitted them and led the way down a hall to a room she wished to rent.

Locked in the Pantry.

Suddenly the men whipped out revolvers. When Mrs. Steinberg started to scream they seized and bound her and thrust her and the little girl into the pantry. After making a leisurely search of the house, they departed without attracting the attention of the neighbors.

At the West Chicago avenue station Mrs. Steinberg said the rings were insured for $1,000. The two men were described as about 5 feet 6 inches tall and each about 30 years old. Mrs. Steinberg's strongest impression of them was that they were "so polite."

BANDITS IN CAR LIE IN WAIT FOR GIRL, DASH UP WHEN SHE STARTS FOR STREET CAR

They must be fast thinking bandits to rob Miss Rose Yore. She is the sister of E. J. Yore, president of Yore Bros., dairy products, 251 North Western avenue. At Western avenue and Fulton street yesterday she was about to board a street car with $1,000 in her purse when two robbers drew up in an automobile. One of them seized her. But she dropped to the pavement with the purse under her and the bandits were foiled.

WORKERS DRAFT NEW WAGE PLAN TO SEND PACKERS

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 16.—International officers and district delegates of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters' and Butcher Workmen of North America, in a conference here, will complete tomorrow, it is expected, the draft of a plan they will present to the packers for an agreement on wages, working conditions, and hours, to take the place of the existing national agreement which expires on Sept. 15.

If, after action by the conference, the plan agreed upon proves not acceptable to the packers, President Harding will be appealed to with a request to name an arbitrator to aid in adjusting the differences, according to C. J. Hayes, president. Mr. Hayes said the union stood for conciliation, but gave out no information as to what the employés' proposal would be.

TRIO HELD AS ROBBERS OF CHINESE.

Three men who were captured after they had beaten, stabbed, and robbed Joe Kim, a Chinese, in his restaurant at 303 West North avenue, and later shot James Relles, a taxi driver, on July 25, were held to the grand jury. The men are Mathew Chambers, 412 Sigel street; Frank Clark, 2026 Clifton avenue, and James Marley, 230 West Goethe street.

NAME MAN WHO "FOUND" PRIEST AS HIS KIDNAPER

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 16.—William A. Hightower was positively identified this afternoon by Miss Marie Wendel as the man who called for the Rev. Patrick E. Heslin on Aug. 2, the night the priest was last seen alive. Miss Wendel was the priest's housekeeper. Her identification was substantiated by Mrs. Bianchi, a neighbor, who also was positive in her statements.

It shows simple ways to keep the feet in proper condition—how to overcome excessive perspiration, how to soothe aching muscles and tendons, how to reduce swelling, how to get instant relief from corns and how to end them, in fact this little book is all that its name infers: "The Proper Care of the Feet."

This booklet accompanies each box of Blue-jay Foot Treatment, which may be obtained at your druggist, or a free copy of the booklet will be sent if you write to Bauer & Black, Chicago.

CLAIMS 5 FIRMS RULE CHICAGO'S CEMENT TRADE

May Ask Indictment of "Trust."

Federal and state indictments against members of five concerns alleged to constitute a combine in absolute control of the manufacture and sale of cement in Chicago territory will be asked when the Daily commission reconvenes early next month.

This announcement was made last night by Joseph B. Fleming, attorney for the commission. Mr. Fleming said Senator Dailey will be in Chicago Friday to make arrangements for resuming the building graft hearings.

"When the commission adjourned several weeks ago it was committed to a thorough investigation of the operations of building materials men," said Attorney Fleming, "but no definite plans had been made. However, the evidence our investigators have dug up in the meantime makes it certain the cement manufacturers will be dealt with at early sessions.

Fix Uniform Prices.

"The evidence indicates five Chicago manufacturers have a complete monopoly of the cement trade. We will undertake to show these concerns fix and maintain uniform prices; that they designate certain dealers, or middlemen, and that it is impossible for contractors or other users of cement to purchase the product from many but these dealers, who receive a 10 per cent commission on all sales.

"This ring of manufacturers has an elaborate system through which it is able to know at all times just how much cement is available for the Chicago district and where it is to be used. No one is permitted to buy cement without first supplying the combine with precise information as to where it is to be used, and no dealer or contractor may buy more than the manufacturers deem adequate fo ra given job.

Regulate Cement Output.

"Evidence shows the cement men frequently send investigators to check up on the reports required from the humble buyer. The regulation of the output is absolute. The commission believes there will be little difficulty in proving violation of both federal and state laws."

Other material men under investigation include manufacturers and dealers in lumber, brick, sheet metal, glass, stone, and many other commodities. It has been charged that their dealings are largely responsible for high building costs in Chicago.

Here's Good News for Those Who Drink Ng-ka-py

One hundred cases of ng-ka-py valued at $4,500 are to be released to the Chee Wo Tong company, 261 West 22d street, upon the order of Prohibition Commissioner Roy D. Hayes received in a letter by John Ford, deputy collector of customs, yesterday. Two hundred cases of the same brand of liquor consigned to other firms are expected to be released soon. Mr. Haines wrote, however, that the liquor is to be used for medicinal purposes only.

SEEKS WRIT FOR CHILD.

Petition for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of 4 year old Jennie Rosenfeld was filed in the Circuit court yesterday by her mother, Mrs. Emma Rosenfeld of Los Angeles. The petition sets up Mrs. Fannie Futterman of 1540 North Leavitt street refuses to give up the child until she is paid $100 for her keep.

ETTELSON GAINS DELAY IN PAGEANT RECEIVER SUIT

Claims Mayor Didn't Have Sufficient Notice.

Arguments supporting a petition for the appointment of a receiver to take charge temporarily of all receipts and assets of the Pageant of Progress will be heard by Judge John A. Swanson in Circuit court tomorrow. Attorney Max M. Grossman, representing his brother, Samuel Grossman, as a taxpayer, asks for a receiver pending disposition of a suit which prays that all profits derived from the pageant be turned into the city treasury.

The hearing caused an evident degree of consternation in the city hall. After the continuance had been granted Corporation Counsel Ettelson went into conference with Mayor Thompson. Chester E. Cleveland, the mayor's right hand lawyer; First Assistant Corporation Counsel J. W. Breen, and Controller George F. Harding later were called into the conference, which lasted most of the afternoon. When the council of war broke up the attorneys said that "the Grossman suit and other pending litigation had been discussed."

Contends Leases Are Invalid.

Attorney Grossman contends leases granted the Chicago Boosters' Publicity club and the Health and Sanitation Exposition for the use of floor space on the Municipal pier during the pageant are void because they violate a statute which forbids any public official from entering into a private contract with the city while in office. Since Mayor Thompson is president of the Pageant of Progress and chairman of the board of directors of both the Chicago Boosters' Publicity club and the Health and Sanitation exposition, Attorney Grossman claims the lease on the pier was virtually a lease to Mayor Thompson.

Attorney Grossman was ready to proceed with his case yesterday, but the defendants, represented by Messrs. Ettelson, Cleveland, and Breen, asked for a delay. Mr. Cleveland argued that Mayor Thompson had not been served with notice of the suit until Saturday and had had no time to take the matter up.

Cleveland's Reason for Delay.

"The complainants have made disparaging statements which are entirely erroneous regarding the disposal of the funds of the pageant," he told the court. "Hence I wish that we be allowed opportunity to make public the truth by continuing this hearing until the defendants, D. F. Kelly, one of Chicago's largest merchants, and Thomas E. Wilson, one of our largest packers, can tell the facts in open court."

"We are not questioning the integrity of such men as Mr. Kelly and Mr. Wilson," said Attorney Grossman. "What we want is to examine the books and the various leases entered into. It is urgent that a receiver be appointed before the profits from the pageant are disbursed. It is our contention that the leases are void and that the money therefore should be turned into the city treasury."

Promises Books Thursday.

"We'll have the leases and books and more than you care to see here in court on Thursday," said Mr. Cleveland.

"I want to see everything," replied Attorney Grossman.

"Supposing the leases are void?" asked Mr. Cleveland. "Is a landlord entitled to the profits reaped by a tenant during his occupancy if the tenant's lease should prove false?"

"It is not a question of landlord and tenant, but a question of principal and agent," said Attorney Grossman. Whom are you representing, Mr. Ettelson?" he asked.

"The city."

"I should think you would be interested in seeing that the city obtained these profits amounting to approximately $355,000."

"I do not want to see the city placed in the position of having to pay back the $50,000, which it collected on the leases," Mr. Ettleson replied.

"Mr. Ettelson evidently is more worried about the $50,000 than he is about the $355,000," said Mr. Grossman later. "We have no political motive whatever behind this suit."

How You Feel

It saves coal, lessens colds, and dispenses humidity upon a dry and unhealthy room, does this little machine which the bobbed haired gal is contemplating. It was invented by Guy S. Faber, 4901 Fulton street, and is known as an automatic humidifier. Physicians agree that approximately 60 per cent of moisture should be contained in the air we breath, yet the atmosphere in the average home during the winter months is drier than that of the Sahara desert. This dofunny will humidify the atmosphere just as soon as it gets too arid and thus save fuel and doctor bills. For a room feels warmer, although the temperature remains the same, when the amount of moisture in the air is increased.

RAILWAY UNIONS WANT HEARING; SENATORS BALK

Labor Men Call Refusal "Tyrannical."

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Heated protests were made today by representatives of the railroad brotherhoods when the senate interstate commerce committee voted down a motion to give them a hearing on the railroad relief bill.

The committee also rejected a motion to summon William G. McAdoo, former director general of railroads, as a witness. The necessity for haste in helping the railroads in their present financial plight was given as the reason for refusing to hear further witnesses.

The motion to grant a hearing to the railroad brotherhoods was made by Senator La Follette. It met defeat by a vote of 6 to 4.

Call Refusal "Tyrannical."

L. E. Sheppard, president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, issued a statement declaring that the defeat of the motion to summon representatives of the brotherhood was a "procedure of the most un-American, tyrannical, and autocratic nature that it has ever been our experience to meet with in appearing before congressional committees."

Director General of Railroads Davis resumed his statement before the house committee. Approximately $350,000,000 will enable the railroad administration to make final settlements with all carriers, he said. The administration has about $149,000,000 for settlements.

Want Pay Cut Canceled.

Asking that the wage reduction given effect July 1 be canceled and that present working rules remain in force for a fixed period, representatives of the four big brotherhoods and the Switchmen's Union of North America conferred in the Transportation building yesterday with a committee from the western railroads.

The unions ask assurances that no further effort to reduce wages will be made and that the proposal to abolish time and one-half for overtime will not be pressed by the railroads.

Circulation

LARGEST morning daily circulation in America, July average, 479,695. Second largest Sunday circulation in America, July average, 788,161. Largest circulation in Chicago and suburbs, July Sunday average, 450,723, which is 89,891 more than that of the nearest competitor—an evening paper.

This evening paper claims that with 360,832 circulation (in 7 overlapping editions) it reaches 7 out of 9 of the English reading people of Chicago and suburbs. If this is true, The Sunday Tribune with its 89,000 ADDITIONAL circulation (only one Sunday Tribune to any home, and practically every one of the 450,723 copies right into the home) must reach MORE than ALL of the English readers of this metropolis!

Advertising

First in want advertising—first in display advertising—first in total advertising. In July The Tribune printed one-fifth more want advertising than the other five Chicago papers combined.

In July The Tribune led in the following 22 out of the 29 main divisions of display advertising. This includes each division which used as much as 5,000 lines in the six papers combined.

VOTE DOWN PLAN TO BUY UTILITIES IN SPRINGFIELD

Early Returns Show City Program Winner.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 16.—The referendum election today apparently resulted in a victory for the program of the city commission, and against the proposal to purchase the light and heat plants of the local utilities plants.

The commission's plan is to develop the city light plant, and bonds for this purpose are to be issued to $400,000.

After years of making and breaking political fortunes, the utilities question had resolved itself into a question of whether the Springfield Gas and Electric company would furnish light, heat, and power to the city or the municipal plant be given that privilege.

The long fight had simmered down to a problem of whether the city should pay the $2,108,212 valuation set upon the private concern's holdings and whether the Citizens' Electric company should be incorporated to take over the Springfield company's holdings until such time as the city had completed its purchase payments.

The Springfield Gas and Electric company, furnishing three-fourths of the city's power and steam heat, lost its franchise by expiration Monday night. The franchise under which the company operated the street car and gas works of the city does not expire for several years.

Throughout the fight the company tried for exclusive franchises. It did not want the municipal plant to be enlarged and otherwise put in a position to compete for the business of the citizens. The city offered a twenty-five year franchise to the concern last Friday, and the company accepted, thereby averting a threatened industrial suspension that had alarmed the residents.

DANCER DIVORCED

MISS FLORENCE WALTON.
[Lewis-Smith Photo.]

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Supreme Court Justice Platt, in White Plains today, signed the final decree in the divorce action of Florence Walton Mouvet against Maurice Mouvet, with whom she gained prominence while dancing as "Maurice and Walton." Papers filed in the Westchester county clerk's office show that twice within the last few months Miss Walton was unable to obtain the court's approval of the decree.

No request was made for alimony, and no mention was made of it in the decision.

Miss Walton was a dancer at the Drake hotel in Chicago until last May. Her dancing partner there was Leo Leitum.

1,500 GIVEN REST AT ALGONQUIN IN FIRST 10 WEEKS

Medical Staff of Camp Holds Conference.

BY REV. G. A. MAC WHORTER.

Another visit to Camp Algonquin has sent the writer back to work with renewed energy and enthusiasm for that wonderful undertaking which is bringing so much happiness to so many poor tired Chicago mothers and their children.

Last Sunday afternoon he went out to Camp Algonquin with Dr. W. A. Evans, health editor of THE TRIBUNE, and found 353 mothers and children enjoying the camp, divided in the ratio of about one mother to four children. At it was the fifth contingent, the grand total of mothers and children who have been guests at Camp Algonquin so far this summer may be conservatively estimated at 1,500—and the camp will remain open until Sept. 23, according to present calculations of the camp director, A. R. Carpenter.

Medical Staff Confers.

The voluntary medical staff, of which Dr. John A. Robinson is active chairman, held a conference during the afternoon, and among other doctors in attendance besides Dr. Robinson and Dr Evans, were Dr. O. L. Pelton of Elgin, and Dr. M. H. Hubrig of Algonquin. Dr. Ruggles of Oak Park was represented by a proxy. They found the health conditions of the camp excellent.

The chief center of attraction at Camp Algonquin nowadays is "Mary's Lamb," who was sent down to the camp by the ladies who organized the Chicago Beach hotel bazaar carnival that netted over $2,000 for THE TRIBUNE funds last week. The lamb is a treat for many of the little ones who never had seen one before.

And Don't Forget the Check.

While you are thinking about Camp Algonquin, before you turn to something else that may take your mind away from the "good turn" that you want to do today, get out your check book and write that check that you have been intending to send to THE TRIBUNE cashier all summer for Camp Algonquin.

Remember the camp will be kept going for at least six weeks and longer if you and your friends say so, and $10 will take a poor mother and her children out to Camp Algonquin for two whole weeks' vacation!

WALTER CRUISE.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Walter Cruise's terrific home run and a boot by Charles Hollocher gave Boston the first game of the series with the Cubs today by a score of 8 to 6. Cruise's four bagger was good for three runs and Hollocher's slip gave them the last two.

Only once before has a ball been whaled into the right field bleachers here, and Cruise was the lad who did it. For those rooters who have never been to Braves' field, it is enough to say that the ball would have broken windows in a second story flat building across Sheffield avenue on the north side. Some wallop, but it had a stiff wind behind it.

Alexander Is Taken Out.

Alexander the Great was slabbing when this record blow happened and there were two men on bases with one out. Alex subdued that assault without further damage in the first inning, but the Braves kept on mauling him until he was relieved by Alex Freeman with one out in the sixth.

Previous to that disaster the Cubs had ganged on Hugh McQuillan in the second, driving him to cover before a flock of hits that whistled around his bean and produced great results. Five blows of various sizes scored five runs and put the visitors in the lead. Dana Fillingim was called to the rescue and stopped the Cubs flatfooted, except for a run in the fourth that was due to a scratch.

Three More for Boston.

The Braves climbed on Alexander again in the fourth for two singles and a triple, which were good for three runs with the aid of a long fly. Those three tallies knotted the count and it was untied in the sixth for keeps.

Powell opened on Aleck in the first with a triple. Barbare walked and Southworth rolled out. Cruise followed with his home run for three tallies.

Maisel led the Cub second with a single. Grimes walked. O'Farrell tripled to right for two runs. Alexander scored O'Farrell with a single. Flack's single and Deal's two-bagger were good for two more runs before Fillingim was summoned. He curbed the Bruins successfully and the only run off him was due to a pass, single, and muffed pop fly in the fourth.

Braves Keep It Up.

The Braves evened the count with three runs in their half because Southworth tripled with two men on and scored on a long fly by Cruise. Fillingim also led the winning attack in the sixth with a single. Powell made another, but Fillingim was forced at third on Barbare's bunt to Alexander, who was then taken out and Freeman substituted. Southworth flied out, but Cruise drew a pass, filling the bases. Boeckel hit to Hollocher, who bobbled a slow bounder and two runs counted. They were plenty.

CUB NOTES

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Two games here tomorrow.

The wind bothered the fielders of both sides. Twice what looked like foul balls near third were blown inside the diamond and missed. Deal lost one of them and Boeckel the other. Neither counted in the result.

Twenty-seven hits, fourteen by the Braves, were made during the game, which indicates the lively ball may be still in existence.

Ford made a magnificent running catch of a pop fly by O'Farrell in the fourth, taking it back of first base by scooting between Holke and Powell, both of whom were trying for it.

Deal leaped in the air and pulled down a high liner by Ford in the fifth, then sent a hot peg to first for a double play on Holke, who was on his way to second.

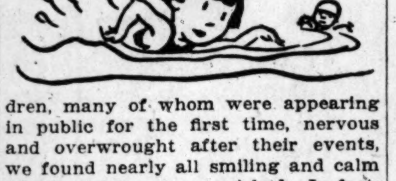
IN the WAKE of the NEWS

COMPETITION BY CHILDREN.

SHOULD children of 6 to 10 years be permitted to engage in competitive athletic events?

Partly in search of an answer to this question from observation, and partly because the little Wakes were entrants, we attended the finals of Tom Robinson's summer swimming classes at Patten gymnasium Saturday afternoon.

If we went a bit skeptical, we returned thoroughly convinced of the affirmative. Instead of finding the children, many of whom were appearing in public for the first time, nervous and overwrought after their events, we found nearly all smiling and calm whether victor or vanquished. In fact, their poise and self-possession were remarkable.



Sportsmanship, too, was at a premium. Not once did we detect an attempt to secure an unfair advantage. Not once the least sign of jealousy or ill feeling. Winners and losers appeared to regard it all as just as much jolly good fun and joked about their efforts afterward.

There is just one qualification to our approval—that such contests be held only under approved and reliable sponsorship, the sponsorship of experienced tutors, who will not allow the little ones to over-exert themselves. Otherwise the contests could be most harmful.

With proper sponsorship provided we think the experience invaluable to the youngsters.

F'rinstance, Judy Wake is a modest little miss of 8 years who always has seemed to have more than her share of illness. Swimming with a side stroke, her back was toward her competitors. As she touched the finish line she looked up, apparently expecting to see them emerging from the pool. They were not there. She looked back and saw them still swimming. A most surprised and pleased look came over her face—she had won a gold button.

Afterward, instead of any tendency to boast of her accomplishment, she exclaimed deprecatingly to Daddy Wake, "Perhaps the other little girls didn't have as many lessons as I did." We like that spirit.

The elder little Wake finished third in a field of five for a bronze button. She did not have a complaint or an excuse. She seemed as well satisfied as if she had won. We like that spirit, too.

Both of 'em were top-riders?
It was a question only then
Of west or else south siders.

The old home town had copped the flag,
That was a cinch undoubted;
And how the players chewed the rag!
And how the rooters shouted!
'Twas long before graft came to mar
The pastime's open story.
Them was the happy days . . . How far
That ancient time of glory!

But let us be of cheery mind,
It does no good to worry;
Perhaps the future will be kind—
Though scarcely in a hurry.
What though the effort's tough and slow
To be the first frame tenant,
Within a hundred years or so
We'll grab another pennant.

SOX AT BAY HERE AGAINST YANKS AFTER HARD TRIP

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

After finishing a more or less distressing tour of the east, the White Sox today begin a long stay on the home lot, with Babe Ruth and his powerful pennant chasing Yankees as the enemy in a three days' series. Boss Gleason still has hopes of getting his men higher than seventh position, for he expects a bit more help from his young pitchers in the home-stretch finish and he also expects to have Harry Hooper back in the battle in a few more days.

The Yanks probably dread the three days' session here in Chicago more than all the rest of their trip. The White Sox have had it on the New Yorkers all season, having won something like eleven of the seventeen games played. On the other hand, the Sox have found it tough to do anything with the Cleveland Indians, which has caused many to exclaim that the White Sox are winning the pennant for Cleveland.

Red Faber, who hurled the Sunday contest in Cleveland and won with a lot of style, may be sent against Ruth and his sluggers today, though Gleason prefers to give his pitching ace another day of rest. Dick Kerr, who has been master of the Yanks all year, might tackle the job today, though his arm hasn't fully recovered from its soreness. It is not unlikely that Bob Shawkey, probably the most reliable of the New York hurlers, will be on the mound.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Although not playing as much as he did a few years ago, Joe C. Le Duc of Olympia Fields demonstrated his skill has not forsaken him by getting the best round of the day in the annual Hi-Jinx tournament at Edgewater yesterday. His total was 76 and he brought down this bird with one barrel, playing only in the afternoon. George M. McConnell, the Edgewater champion, and Kenneth H. Burns of Glen View, each having a. m. and p. m. rounds, made 77 each time, while Eliot H. Evans, after an air flight in the morning, came home in the afternoon with 78.

The 77 cards of McConnell and Burns left them tied for the low gross prize at thirty-six holes, but, as the program for today is similar to that of yesterday and no player can take more than one prize, the awards will have to await final results.

GOLF CLUBS TO CLASH FOR TEAM HONORS OF YEAR AT ONWENTSIA

The annual team championship tournament of the Chicago District Golf association will be played today at Onwentsia. Twelve of the thirty odd local clubs that hold membership in the association will be represented by four man teams, among them Onwentsia, Flossmoor, Calumet, Skokie, Oak Park, Hinsdale, Exmoor, La Grange, Edgewood, Bob o' Link, Ridgemoor, and Park Ridge.

Onwentsia, which won the title the last two years, apparently has a fair chance of making it three in a row. The team is composed of Robert A. and Paul E. Gardner, Mason H. Phelps, and George F. McLaughlin Jr. The championship team is intact with the exception of McLaughlin, who succeeds George Blossom.

Exmoor also has a strong team, in which S. Davidson Herron, former national amateur champion, is a member. Play will be at thirty-six holes from scratch. The personnel of the various teams will be as follows:

Onwentsia—Mason H. Phelps, Paul E. Gardner, Robert A. Gardner, George F. McLaughlin Jr.

Flossmoor—Raymond J. Daly, R. J. Kramer, John M. Gilchrist Jr., M. W. Borders.

Calumet—J. N. McDonald, Lee Thiltges, A. L. Wilson, C. F. Rathbun.

SUZANNE, COUGHING AND WEEPING, QUITS TO MOLLA AT TENNIS

going and during these intervals the gallery was treated to bits of volleying and court covering that kept it swaying back and forth with the course of the ball.

In these clashes Mlle. Lenglen held her own, but in the next play, or the one after that she would err and then the American player would begin to pile up the points again. Mlle. Lenglen drove the ball out of court fifteen times to Mrs. Mallory's ten and made five nets to the American girl's seven.

It was not the fall of a champion, that most dramatic event in the annals of sport, for no title went with Mrs. Mallory's victory, but it was the humbling of a champion. It means, moreover, that Mlle. Lenglen will not realize her desire to carry back to France the American championship.

She Claimed no Alibi.

It is recalled that Mlle. Lenglen's illness in France caused one postponement of her trip to the United States. It was thought, however, that she was fully recovered. In practice since her arrival Saturday, Mlle. Lenglen had not complained, at least publicly, of her illness. She had said in statements on her arrival last Saturday that she wished to "claim no alibi" because of her bronchitis.

In her room at the Forest Hills Inn after she had recovered somewhat from her physical breakdown, Mlle. Lenglen made the following statement:

"I extend my heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Mallory. She is a gallant opponent and I trust she will go on to a splendid triumph in this tournament. My only regret is that I was unable to play the kind of tennis I knew every one expected to see."

Mlle. Lenglen's default means that she not only is no longer a contender in the singles, but also that she will be unable to take part in the doubles paired with Mrs. Mallory. Summaries:

FIRST ROUND.

Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, France, won by default from Miss Eleanor Gos, Boston.

SECOND ROUND.

Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, New York, defeated Mlle. Lenglen, France, 6—2, default. Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, Los Angeles, defeated Miss Virginia Travell, New York, 6—0, 6—0. Miss Mary K. Miss Edith Sigourney, Boston, defeated Miss Eleanora Sears, Beverly Farms, Mass., 6—2, 6—1. Mrs. Carl V. Hitchens, Mexico City, defeated Mrs. Cyrus Clark, Norfolk, Conn. Mrs. Benjamin E. Woods and Waters by LARRY ST. JOHN

A DOUBLE ON MUSKIES.

DID you ever, in muskie fishing, take two at a crack? Well, that was the experience of Elmer E. Olson while fishing at Island lake in the Manitowish waters, up in Wisconsin. He writes: "Friday afternoon, July 29, with a guide, I was casting with a frog for bass at the mouth of Boulder creek, which empties into Island lake, when I had a very hard strike. I knew at once that I had a muskie.

"The creek at this point is only about fifty feet wide and both sides lined with snags. My tackle was a No. 19 bass hook with a gut leader and a twelve pound test line. I played the fish for about twenty minutes, when I was able to get him up close enough to the boat for the guide to take a shot at him.

"On being hit, he threw a small muskie, weighing about one and one-half pounds. After about five minutes more play I finally got him close enough to the boat to get another shot at him. The fish weighs thirty pounds and is fifty-one inches long. Evidently the small muskie struck first, and the big fellow at just about the same time hit the small one

"The reason I am writing is that I spoke to many old timers up there, but this is the first time they ever heard of a muskie hitting at another. Abe Lafave has been up there for thirty-five years, and this is the first time he has ever seen this happen."

Strange things will happen when one is fishing. We know of a similar instance. A yellow perch seized a frog bait, and a pickerel seized the perch, the surprised angler landing both. Just the other day ye ed saw something unusual.

He hooked a dog fish on a spinner and bucktail fly. It was a short, heavy built female, weighing about six pounds and designed for anything but leaping, but she cleared the water a "clean" two feet on a taut line, as prettily as any small mouth you ever saw. Our pardner, by the way, is an Olson, too. Bob is the plumber at Saugatuck, and he doesn't forget his tools—when he goes fishin'!

INJURY TO KNEE MAY KEEP INDIA DAVIS CUP CAPTAIN OUT OF PLAY

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

With their Davis cup semi-final match against Japan only one day off, members of India's tennis team may be compelled to take the courts without the services of Capt. S. M. Jacob, one of the principal reliances in singles. Jacob has been bothered by a bad right knee ever since coming to Chicago, and yesterday paid a visit to Dr. C. O. Foreman for osteopathic treatment. He will receive another treatment today.

S. M. JACOB.

Members of the Indian team were guests of A. Watson and Lester Armour in a party which went through the stockyards yesterday. Others in the party were Joseph Belden and John Stevenson of the Onwentsia club and J. C. Stewart of the Western Lawn Tennis association. The foreign tennis players were keenly interested in the stringing room at the yards, where the gut for tennis rackets goes through its first processes.

Both Teams Hold Practice.

The Indians had their daily tennis practice on the Lake Forest turf in the morning. They were luncheon guests of the Messrs. Armour at the Saddle and Sirloin club. In the afternoon Capt. Jacob and L. S. Deane, members of the Indian team of English patriation, stopped off for tea at the Drake hotel.

The Japanese players did not accompany their friendly contestants on the stockyards tour, but took a longer workout at Onwentsia. Capt. Ichiya Kumagae and his mates are in fine form for their big test. They will knock off practice with a brief drill this morning, and the Hindu players will engage in a longer practice session this afternoon.

Referee Wright Arrives Today.

Beals C. Wright of Boston, referee of the matches, will arrive this morning, and go into consultation with the two team captains and other officials. The line-up of the teams will be announced this afternoon. Tomorrow's program includes two singles matches. One doubles event will be played Friday, and the other two singles events on Saturday. Play will begin daily at 3 o'clock.

BRITONS' TENNIS STARS ADVANCE

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Three members of the British Davis cup tennis team today advanced to the round before the semi-finals in the invitation singles of the Meadow club. William J. Clothier of Philadelphia, national champion in 1906, eliminated the other Briton, J. B. Gilbert, 7—5, 6—3.

Capt. Maxwell Woosnam of England, defeated T. R. Pell of New York, 6—3, 6—2, after eliminating Arthur Yencken, Washington, 6—1, 6—2. F. Gordon Lowe, had Hugh Kelleher of New York and Donald Kersey of New York as his victims. O. G. N. Turnbull scored an easy victory over Leon de Turenne of Cambridge, Mass., 6—3, 6—3, but was extended by Walter Merill Hall, New York, 7—5, 7—5.

Philip Neer of Portland, Ore., after outplaying Howard Kinsey of San Francisco, 4—6, 7—5, 8—6, lost to Harold Godshall of Los Angeles, 4—6, 9—7, 6—4. Willis E. Davis of San Francisco advanced to the fourth round by defeating Ignacio Borbolla of Mexico, 6—3, 6—1, and Philip Van Deventer of Plainfield, N. J., 10—12, 6—1, 6—4.

Long Island City, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Harry Darneille, Washington's "fighting cop," won his first professional bout tonight when the referee stopped his match with Fred Schroeder of New York in the sixth round. The two heavyweights had pummeled each other without displaying much science, and Schroeder appeared completely exhausted. The weights were: Darneille, 185 pounds; Schroeder, 188½.

New York Ring 'Comish' Suspends Two Big Clubs

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—For alleged failure to pay boxers amounts stipulated for fighting at their clubs, two of New York's largest open air boxing organizations have been suspended, pending hearing by the New York state athletic commission. The two clubs ar the Boxing Drome A. A. the Bronx, and the Lyceum Oval A. C., Manhattan.

The revocation of the license of the Oval club was brought about through the charges of Mike Gibbons, who fought Augie Ratner there last week. Gibbons says he was paid only half the amount agreed to in his contract. He was given a note for the balance,

$2,500 STAKE-RACE AT BELMONT TRACK WON BY JEANETTE RANKIN

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 16.—Jeanette Rankin scored her sixth winning race out of seven starts this season when she captured the $2,500 Bulls Head Bazaar stake, feature of the opening day's card of the fifth Grand Cirucit meeting at the Belmont Driving club's mile track at Narberth, Pa. Three of the four events were won by 4 year old fillies.

McDonald drove Jeanette Rankin to victory in three straight heats, after hot brushes in the stretch with Princess Etawah and Betty Taylor. In all three heats the winner finished handily. The first and third heats in 2:06¼ clipped a quarter of a second off the record for the stake, made by The Royal Knight in 1918.

Jane the Great, driven by Walter Cox, took the Mathews stake for 2:10 trotters in straight heats, the middle heat being 2:06¼. In the Directors' stake for 2:17 trotters, for horses owned in Pennsylvania, Madam Dillon, owned by A. B. Coxe of Paoli, Pa., and driven by Herman Tyson, won the event after General Knight, driven by Bob Grady, had won the first heat. George McDonald, son of Lon McDonald, drove his maiden race on the Grand Circuit in this race, behind Binque.

PAL MOORE OUT TO BUILD PUNCH FOR MANDELL GO

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of Tribune boxing representatives are:

At Long Island City—Harry Darnlille stopped Fred Schroeder [6].

At Atlantic City—Ritz Walters stopped Otis Robinson [7].

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Pal Moore, the bantamweight who meets Sammy Mandell in the feature bout of the boxing show to be conducted by Jim Mullen and Jack Sager at Aurora on Aug. 26, is working to develop a right hand punch. Pal is peeved over reports that he can't punch hard enough to even slow up the speedy Mandell.

Since he started to train for this contest Moore has done more bag punching that he usually does for a battle. He also tears into the sandbag with a vengeance, and if training will develop a wallop he should have it by Aug. 26.

Out to Kayo Mandell.

"I am tired of hearing persons say I am not a puncher," Moore said yesterday. "A fighter doesn't have to win his contests by the K. O. route. Lynch took the bantamweight title away from Herman by winning the decision and Herman won it back in the same manner. Many other titles have changed hands by the decision route.

"I have been told I will not hit Mandell hard enough to even slow him up. They say this is the reason why Mandell consented to meet me. If I ever intend to knock an opponent out it will be Mandell. I can punch when I want to let go and I will show the wallop on Aug. 26."

Drops Sparring Partner.

Moore boxed three sessions with Kid Hogan at the Arcade yesterday and in the final round dropped Hogan with a right cross to the jaw. The Kid was in a bad way when he got to his feet and the round was cut short.

Frankie Schaeffer, who will meet Mike Dundee of Rock Island in the ten round opener, is working at the Arcade and stepped six rounds. Jimmy Kelly, west side bantam, who will exchange punches with Babe Asher in the semi-windup, will start boxing today at the Arcade. Kelly has been spend a few weeks in Michigan and returned yesterday.

Rickard Awaits Partner to Go Into Coliseum Deal

Tex Rickard, the New York sport promoter, who is in Chicago ostensibly to purchase the Coliseum, failed to confer with President Hall of the Coliseum company yesterday. The promoter announced that nothing definite will be done until his partner, John Ringling, arrives in Chicago. Rickard expects to arrange a meeting with stockholders of the Coliseum company as soon as he holds a conference with Ringling.

If You're a Babe Ruth Fan, O Baby! What Fun You'll Have

"HEADIN' HOME"

Produced by Security.
Directed by R. A. Walsh.
Presented at Barbee's Loop.

THE CAST.

Babe Ruth	Babe Ruth
Mildred	Ruth Taylor
Harry Knight	William Sheer
Babe's Mother	Margaret Sedden
Pigtails	Frances Victory
Si, the banker	James Marcus
Dog Catcher	George Halman

BY ALVA TAYLOR.

As I watched the history of Babe Ruth unreeled before me yesterday, I wished I were a little boy. Then I could have experienced the thrill of seeing my hero and my idol in the making—see him "rise to fame like a comet with two tails." (And that, as the clever author of the subtitles so aptly put it, is just what Babe did.)

For there must be countless boys, large as well as small, to whom Babe Ruth, master batsman, famous home runner, must be a wonderful man, encompassed by the aura of romance. It is for these hero worshipers that the biographical film, "Headin' Home," was made, and they will love it.

* * *

But if you're not interested in the career of a small town boy, whose first home run went through a new stained glass church window five blocks from the ball field, and who from then on became daily more renowned as he added home run to home run; or if the sport or, let us say, business, of baseball means nothing to you, why, then you'd best be "headin' home" yourself and leave this picture for the Babe Ruth fans.

Because outside of the scenes actually connected with the baseball diamond, there is little to draw one's attention. There is a moderately pretty girl, a more or less handsome villain, who starts out as a pitcher and ends up selling peanuts on the scene of Babe's "homers," a comical dog catcher and a cute little mongrel pup—all of which added together is not a great deal.

CLOSEUPS

All the young people, not just those who are young in years, but in spirit, will be glad to know that Marshall Neilan is going to produce "Penrod," Booth Tarkington's famous boy story. And Mr. Marshall has chosen Wesley Barry for the title rôle, which, we understand, means that the character will be excellently portrayed. Wesley Barry has just crossed from New York to Los Angeles with his pet alligator, "Mickey." The alligator was in a wash basin, but he got out one day. However, the conductor was an admirer of Wesley, and so did not put him off the train.

Beatrice Joy will appear in a Cecil De Mille special which will start filming Sept. 1. Although Miss Joy has been playing leads for more than a year, this is her first assignment with Famous Players-Lasky.

A bronze statue of Mae Murray was sold at auction for $1,000 at a benefit for unemployed veterans of the war, engineered by the New York Daily News. The sculptor is Boris Lorsky. There are but three copies of the statue. One is in the possession of Miss Murray, one sold at auction, and the other is in a museum in New York. The money obtained by the Daily News will be used to send veterans to farms where they will be given work.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

The Roasting Ear.

The roasting ear is distinctly an American institution. The historian tells us that William Penn, when he was laying out the city of Philadelphia, partook of the roasting ear with the friendly Susquehanna Indians. In the history of the southern states we find that the Indian tribes of those regions also roasted corn. I know that in New England in my childhood the roasting ear—corn in the milk—was considered a great treat. Field corn was often used, and it was roasted by a roadside fire or at an evening bonfire.

* * *

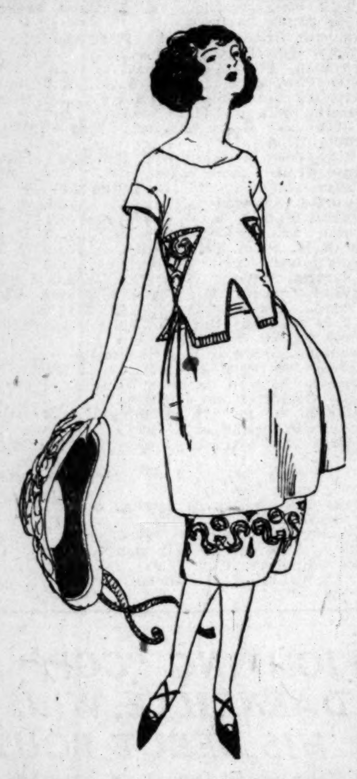
Mr. Charles J. Murphy, who won the name of "the apostle of corn" about half a century ago, says: "The green ears, roasted on the hearth or by the burning heaps in the old time clearing, or cooked by being buried in the ashes, made many of the long remembered and toothsome feasts of the pioneers of the forest."

* * *

It is possible to roast corn over the gas burner, or in a broiler, to rival that of the old times, although eating it in the house is not according to any of the traditions. A wire rack put over a burner, turned low, is what is needed. It browns and pops quickly, and so must be watched.

Sweet corn of the market, which would be anything but sweet when boiled, tastes sweet this way, and hardly needs buttering to perfect it. What we get mainly is the sweet milk of the corn, which has been heated through. For a picnic meal it is highly worth while, and a suitable accompaniment of broiled bacon and bread and butter sandwiches.

Fashion's Blue Book



BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—"The Dress Poet and the Peasant" is one of the popular style overtures. From the slashed bodice of the peasant woman's frock both French and American designers have drawn for some of the most delightful modes of early fall. Often the bodice is sleeveless, and a guimpe of contrasting material showing above the round or square neckline of the corsage projects long sleeves that are likely to be of the bishop variety. Less faithful to tradition, but still retaining some of the spirit of its prototype, is the corsage of the above charming little creation of white crêpe Marocain. To intensify this effect embroidery in blue, black, and red is used lavishly on both bodice and underskirt.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Different Religions.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been keeping company with a fellow for the last six months, after knowing him for about two years or over. We are in love with each other and would like to be married at a future date, but there is one obstacle. He is of a different religion than mine. We have decided to take your advice as to whether religion should interfere with love and whether mixed marriages always prove unhappy. ANXIOUS."

There is something more vitally important to your happiness than my advice when there is a question of religion involved. Seek the advice of your clergy and let him advise out of his experience. It is a serious matter and one not to be decided by the flip of a coin.

A. L. T.: FIRST HELP FOR HAIR trouble is to massage the scalp daily. Brushing the hair with a fairly stiff brush and brushing until the scalp tingles is about as good a form of massage as you can apply. But you must do it morning and night without a miss. I have a formula for a hair tonic which is good and instructions on how to apply it to the scalp. You had better send along a stamped, addressed envelope for it, because there is other information about growing hair inclosed in the leaflet which will be of benefit to you.

Thrilled.

I was an exceedingly frail lad of 17 when I passed through what, I think, was the most embarrassing moment of my life, for I don't see how any happening could be more so.

I had been sent that summer to help on my uncle's farm, in the hope that the open air life would benefit my health.

One morning my uncle said: "Will, I'm going to introduce you to a mighty pretty girl today, so you must be on your best behavior."

Of course, I was all eyes when we went in to dinner, and there, just inside the dining room door, stood the prettiest girl I've ever seen—so pretty that she fairly took my breath away and I could do nothing but stare.

Not noticing the step up into the dining room, I fell headlong, and as the floor was covered with linoleum, I slid nearly under the table, amid roars of laughter.

The girl is now my wife, and she declares that she has loved me ever since I fell at her feet.

Lake Geneva Club Holds Women's Golf Tournament Today

THE Lake Geneva Country club links will be busy today. There will be a women's invitation golf tournament. Miss Katherine Lefens, Miss Catharine Bartholomay and Miss Louise Rehm will be hostesses. The prizes will be for an eighteen hole match, driving, approaching and putting competitions. On Thursday of each week a bridge party is held at the club and every Saturday evening there is a dinner dance. Commencing Aug. 24, there will be the annual men's tournament which will bring many visitors to Lake Geneva. Many social events are being planned.

Harold A. Howard of Chicago, was on the cotillion committee of the annual Old White German, which took place Monday night in the historic old White ballroom at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. The ball was the most brilliant event of the summer season at the springs, following the precedent set by the Old White Germans many years ago when White Sulphur was, according to Charles Dudley Warner, "the rendezvous of all that was most characteristic in the society of the whole south, the arena of gayety, intrigue and fashions." Gov. E. F. Morgan and Mrs. Morgan of West Virginia led the grand march Monday night and Thomas B. Paine of Atlanta and Oliver Harriman of New York, were the cotillion leaders.

Mrs. John Borden has returned to Lake Geneva from a fortnight's visit at Magnolia, Mass.

Miss Dorothy Burch of Evanston is giving a luncheon and matinée party today for Miss Elizabeth Klotz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Klotz of Winnetka, whose marriage to Robert Case Bennett of Kenilworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Inslee A. Bennett, will take place on Sept. 1. Miss Burch will be a bridesmaid.

Mrs. Arend Van Vlissingen, who has leased Mrs. Arthur Aldis' studio at 326 River street until the last of October, when Mrs. Aldis will return from Seattle, Wash., gave a tea yesterday afternoon at the studio. Mrs. Van Vlissingen has just returned from a month's tour of the great lakes.

Mrs. Charles Wolcott Hubbard and two children will leave Friday to spend the autumn and winter in the Hawaiian islands. Mr. Hubbard will be at the University club until he joins his family the latter part of November. Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Corey Drake, who are spending the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tracy C. Drake, at Lake Geneva, have taken the Hubbards' house in Winnetka.

Miss Alice Silverthorne of Chicago, whose engagement to Viscomte Frederick de Janze of Paris and Dinard was announced last week, is now in Dieppe with her fiancé, visiing his mother.

Mrs. Charles S. Dewey has joined Mr. Dewey at Onwentsia for a short stay. She will return to Rye Beach, N. H., the latter part of the week, where she will remain until Oct. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey have taken an apartment at 242 East Walton place for the winter.

Countess Arles Minotto, who returned last week with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Minotto, moved yesterday from the Louis F. Swifts' residence in Lake Forest, where she has been visiting, to the Ambassador hotel, where she will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan of 1150 Lake Shore drive, will leave today to join their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Munroe of 1234 Lake Shore drive, who are spending the summer at Bread Loaf, Vt.

so he replied, "I has simply outgrowed him." J. W.

Mary Jane's mother was trying to teach her that when little girls came to play with her she must always let them have her toys.

One Sunday morning her father was reading the paper, and Mary Jane also wanted it. Her father told her to wait until he had finished reading it.

Mary Jane looked up at her daddy and said, "Daddy, I'm your company." G. L. B.

Mrs. Brown looked smilingly down at her daughter as she said, "Ann, dear, since we are invited out to tea I think you shall wear a clean dress."

Ann ran delightedly to the bureau, opened a drawer, and stood looking thoughtfully down.

"Well, mamma," she said at length, "I dess we can find somesing, but dere isn't much of a 'sortment." M. D. H.

One of Tanner Twins Dies

William, who died in Albany, N. Y. (at left), his sister, Helen, and his twin brother, Lyman. The snapshot was made a few days before the boy's death.

DEATH took another member of the ill-fated Tanner family, who two years ago were living happily in Wilmette. First it was William F. Tanner and his wife. Mrs. Tanner caught her foot in a switch and she and her husband, who refused to leave her, were killed by an on rushing train. Now it is William H. Tanner, one of the five year old orphans, who died in Albany, N. Y.

On the death of their parents, Sept. 1, 1919, the three children, Helen, 7, and the twins, Lyman and William, 5, became the wards of their aunt, Mrs. Josephine G. Cassidy of Albany. In the course of the two years in their new home they became the "pets of the neighborhood," according to a letter written by Mrs. Cassidy.

"On the morning of July 29," she writes to THE TRIBUNE, "William played and ate his dinner, but didn't like it. I put him to bed about 1 o'clock, and noticed he was restless. I sent for a doctor and he sent for a specialist, but William died that night."

Mrs. Rohl-Smith, Widow of Noted Sculptor, Dead

News has just been received by Mrs. G. M. Shirk of the death of Mrs. Sara Rohl-Smith on June 19 in Copenhagen, Denmark. She was the widow of the Danish-American sculptor, Carl Rohl-Smith, who lived in Chicago before and at the time of the World's Fair.

The gigantic figure of Benjamin Franklin in front of the electricity building at the World's Fair was the work of Mr. and Mrs. Rohl-Smith. So deeply impressed with the excellence of this work was the late George M. Pullman that he commissioned Mr. Rohl-Smith to make the Dearborn massacre group which stands at the foot of 18th street and the lake near the Pullman residence.

Other works of interest made by him are the frieze in the library of the capitol at Springfield, Ill.; the soldiers and sailors' monument at Des Moines, Ia., and the Sherman monument in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Rohl-Smith always claimed his wife was the real artist and he was only the workman. The committee of the Army of the Tennessee, which paid for and erected the Sherman monument, regarded Mrs. Rohl-Smith's ability so highly that they gave her permission to finish the Sherman monument.

OFFERS TO RUN MUSCLE SHOALS ON 50-50 BASIS

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Weeks received by telegraph today another proposal from a private corporation the identity of which he did not disclose, to take over the government's water power project at Muscle Shoals. The corporation proposes to meet Henry Ford's offer and to better it in several particulars.

The proposal, which came from Birmingham, Ala., is reported to have emanated from the Alabama Light and Power company, but verification of this could not be obtained here.

"Will meet Ford's offer for purchase and operation of all plants and will operate hydro-electric plants when completed on a fifty-fifty profit sharing basis, instead of stipulated yearly premiums.

"Will charge off 3 per cent interest on investment and all operating expenses of locks, etc., before dividing profits.

"Will guarantee to pay reasonable amount for all water power consumed by present and future industrial plants owned by us and sell surplus power to other interests at reasonable price. This should net government profit of several millions a year and have approval of all farming interests."

Secretary Weeks telegraphed, acknowledging receipt of the proposal.

The government, it was disclosed, had employed a group of experts to study the Ford proposal and to report on just what could be accomplished through it as soon as possible. "Two of these experts," Secretary Weeks said, "are civilian engineers who have never had any interest whatever in southern water power projects."

SAYS 16 MURDER ORDERS IN U. S. CAME FROM ITALY

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Seven Italians were arrested today in New York City and one in New Jersey, after the first of the prisoners had confessed that sixteen murders had been committed by the gang during the last four years. Orders for the murders came from Italy. Nine of the killings took place in Detroit. Another of the prisoners confessed tonight verifying all the first had told. He says all the murderers come from Castellamore del Golfo, Sicily, a town of 20,000 inhabitants, and in which 200 murders have been committed. The men said "the murders resulted from efforts of the organization to corner" the bootleg traffic.

PREDICT TARIFF BILL HELD UP UNTIL JANUARY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—That the permanent tariff bill will not be enacted into law before Jan. 1 was the prediction of Senator McCumber, North Dakota, in a report to the senate from the finance committee today, approving a bill extending the emergency tariff to that date.

The bill, as passed by the house, applied only to the chemical and dye control provisions of the emergency tariff, which expire Aug. 27, but as amended by the senate committee, all features of the measure are extended to Jan. 1.

The finance commitee continued hearings on the chemical schedule of the Fordney bill. Both manufacturers urging higher duties and importers objecting to any tariff were heard.

CHICAGOANS WIN FIRST HONORS AT TRAINING CAMP

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—Today was Chicago day at the Civilian Military Training camp here and more than 200 Chicago business men, headed by Julius Rosenwald, arrived on a special train to be spectators.

After an exhibition drill in which a company composed entirely of Chicago men captured first prize, and R. V. Martin, 3958 Vincennes avenue, Chicago, won the medal as the most excellent soldier, the students were reviewed by Maj. Gen. George Bell, Jr., Brig. Gen. Abel Davis of the Illinois National Guard and Brig. Gen. Charles King of the Wisconsin National Guard.

LAWYERS SPILL EACH OTHER'S GORE IN COURT

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 16.—[Special.]—A fistic combat between two Hammond attorneys broke up a trial in Judge Charles Friedrich's court here today. The lawyers, Gerald Gillett and H. E. Granger, were both bleeding from cuts on their faces when officers of the court interfered. Judge Friedrichs announced it a no decision bout and refused to assess any contempt fines.

EDITOR'S THREAT BRINGS INQUIRY IN DEATH OF BEAUTY

Prize Winner, Who Died by Gas, Held Insane.

Mrs. Mary De Brito, once Chicago's "most beautiful Irish girl," who was found dying from gas in a bathtub in her home, committed suicide, according to a coroner's jury yesterday "while mentally deranged by failing health and despondency." A further investigation of the affair is to be made by police authorities.

S. J. Forhan and Mrs. Mary Forhan, 4622 North Ashland avenue, her parents, testified at the inquest that their daughter was "moody and prone to act on the spur of the moment." It had been brought out previously that she had been brooding over a letter of criticism received from the managing editor of "Jim Jam Jems," a North Dakota publication. It is this incident which is to be investigated.

Stirred by Mob Attack.

According to the girl's parents, she purchased a copy of the magazine while en route to Chicago from St. Paul recently. An article in the magazine entitled "The Plumed Knight" and dealing with the recent tarring and feathering of a Beaumont, Tex., physician, aroused her ire. The man in question, Dr. J. S. Paul, was kidnaped from his office in broad daylight, following charges he had performed illegal operations. The men who tarred and feathered him have been said to have been members of the Ku Klux Klan. The article in question goes on to say:

"Jim Jam Jems has waged war against abortioners, 'advertising doctors,' medical tyranny, and all their attendant atrocities, and we'll never quit until they quit! Every abortioner is a murderer, a cold blooded, premediated, deliberate murderer for dirty drachmas. And if the Ku Klux Klan—or any other Klan—will clean 'em up and pull 'em from their buzzard's roosts, we'll say Amen!"

Protest to Governor.

Immediately after reading the article, Mrs. De Brito wrote a letter to Gov. Frazier of North Dakota, denouncing the editor of the magazine.

"I refer to the paragraph or skit, deliberately encouraging private citizens, or, rather, irresponsible individuals, to take up the law in their own hands by gloating over a most disgraceful and regrettable incident, the tarring and feathering of a man in the United States, a white doctor at Beaumont, Tex.," she wrote.

Continuing, the letter read: "I understood or was laboring under the naïve impression that we had laws in this country applying to such cases, and that it was not necessary for us to decide what should or should not be done. When we reach the state where cowardly, contemptible, riotous mobs can, with impunity, render their own decisions and persecutions we have reached a critical state, indeed, for our country's welfare."

Letter Sent to Editor.

Nelson A. Mason, the governor's secretary, answered the letter, saying that he believed the girl was laboring under misapprehensions regarding the article and that he did not believe the editor of the magazine intended to convey the idea that he was in favor of mob violence. Mr. Mason then sent the girl's letter and a copy of his reply to the editor of Jim Jam Jems.

"Madame: Your letter to Gov. Frazier and copy of the reply thereto lie before us. Looks to us as if you had inserted your snooping nose in the crack of the wrong door and got it squeezed a bit. Would recommend you to peruse Uncle Sam's constitution and particularly the clause relating to the freedom of the press. It might tend to illumine the cimmerian darkness of your mentality on the subject.

"Start Reform at Home."

"This magazine is on its tenth year of unparalleled success. It numbers over 200,000 monthly readers, declines subcriptions and advertisements which other magazines beseech and does more real good than you or your like will do from now to the crack of doom. Why do you so object to an abortioner and advertising doctor, whose doings the law proves powerless to reach, receiving his just desert at the hands of an outraged community?

"Have you any special reasons for favoring such gentry? What do you pay judges and juries for in your city? Is it to suppress race riots, which they haven't done? Is it to punish or to free just twenty-seven red handed murderers, which they have done? Is it to be powerless to arrest your governor under indictment for a confidence game? Is it to nurture and to fondle the most notorious gangs of criminals and cut throats in the world, who thrive and fatten in Chicago?

Solves Her Problem.

"If you are undergoing a reform spasm your own city and state afford you boundless opportunities and speaking of reformers we never yet saw one who could endure the spotlight. And the very few misguided hands who have grabbed at Jim Jam Jems found they had grabbed live wire, which burned to the bone, ere they could drop it. We didn't start your intrusion into our affair, but we'll guarantee to finish it good and plenty.

"JIM JAM JEMS,
"per Wallace Campbell."

Shortly after the receipt of the letter, according to the girl's parents, a badly dressed and domineering man called at the home and asked for Mrs. De Brito. When told she was at work he asked the address. It was given him.

That night Mrs. De Brito came home, her mother says, "a nervous wreck." "O, they'll print such awful things—what shall I do?" she cried.

And Monday night she solved her problem.

TRAIN INJURIES FATAL.

BROKER LAGS ON ALIMONY, PUT IN SHERIFF'S CARE

Detain R. J. Munster Pending Payment.

Failure to pay alimony led to an order by Judge Theodore Brentano, yesterday remanding Rowland Joseph Munster, broker and son of F. J. Munster, retired packer, to the custody of the sheriff.

In May, 1920, Mrs. Mary Munster, daughter of former Ald. James C. Patterson, was granted a divorce from Munster because of alleged intimacy with a certain Irene Racker. She was allowed alimony of $40 a week and the custody of her 11-year-old child.

After a time, according to Mrs. Munster's petition, the payments lagged and finally failed. Munster was $320 in arrears—due, says his former wife's attorney, to the fact that he is still contributing to the support of the correspondental Irene.

Munster, through his counsel, declared yesterday that he is unable to pay the alimony, nor can he furnish the necessary $1,500 bond to procure his release.

He asked that the writ be quashed so that he might start business in another state. He cannot return to his brokerage affairs in Chicago, he said, because his reputation has been ruined by passing checks which were later stamped with the cryptic "N. S. F." Judge Brentano denied his motion to quash.

NEIGHBOR WOMEN PRINCIPALS IN SUIT FOR $50,000

Mrs. Marion J. Richter and Mrs. Mary Thieme used to be good friends. Some time ago, however, they had a quarrel, and Mrs. Thieme, who is the wife of Robert Thieme, 1507 Jonquil terrace, the son of the millionaire owner of the Fort Wayne Knitting Mills, said something that Mrs. Richter didn't like. Then Mr. Thieme got mixed up in the quarrel and he is alleged to have made some uncomplimentary statements concerning his wife's former friends.

What Mr. and Mrs. Thieme said about Mrs. Richter is a mystery, but Mrs. Richter believes that it injured her to the extent of $50,000, for yesterday, through her attorney, William F. Waugh Jr., she filed two suits for $25,000 each against the Thiemes.

Heil Seeks to Adopt Boy He and Wife Gave Home

Joseph S. Heil, wealthy broker, who recently obtained a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Etta B. Heil, after she had been found guilty of stealing property from north side homes by posing as a maid, yesterday filed a petition to adopt 6 year old Joseph Herbert Brosius. The child was one of two children adopted jointly by Heil and his wife before their separation.

Thinks She's Wed Under Common Law; Starts Suit

"We have lived together for ten years. We have two children and own property together. I thought that we were married under the common law."

So Mrs. Clara Schmaus Keller of 532 East 92d street told her lawyer, Roy Juul, before she had him file the praecipe in a $15,000 suit against Bernard A. Keller for breach of promise yesterday, according to the attorney.

SEEK MISSING RHODE ISLAND MAN.

Search has been instituted by the police for Morris Goldsmith, 21 years old, Providence, R. I., who disappeared in Chicago last Friday. He is a salesman for a jewelry concern. He sent his sample cases to Providence and has not been heard from since.

BUSINESS WOMEN CHEW? WELL, NOT WHEN WORKING

But Customers? Yes, Yes, They Use Gum.

BY MARTHA.

"Martha, Martha, thou hast troubled thyself about many things."

Boulevard office buildings were never built from the proceeds of the sale of chewing gum to the Chicago business woman. This statement is recommended to the consideration of the London girl who, in a recent cable, is reported to have said, "Judging by the movies, I think American shop girls would benefit most by rules prohibiting the use of chewing gum."

Chew gum, the Chicago "shop girl" may, on the screen. But the loop department stores have rules more rigid than those of the movie censors, and girls wishing to live to chew another day, must be sufficiently expert in the technique of gum chewing to negotiate a stick unknown to both innocent bystander and observing employer.

Officials of Marshall Field & Co. disapprove of gum chewing, in theory. Managers, department heads and floor men carry out this disapproval, in practice. With the result that a survey of the main floor of Field's resulted in a 100 per cent score for non-gum-chewing employés. At the veil counter the record was almost marred. But investigation proved the girl had a veil pin between her teeth.

Not Even in Basement.

Thinking perhaps it was a basement 'shop girls" the London critic had seen in the cinema, research work was carried to that laboratory. Through the women's wear section, across to the shoe, into the millinery, a glimpse toward the lingerie section, back to the notion counter, and up to the cosmetics. Another perfect record.

On the upper floors, in the more exclusive rooms, gum had been heard of—never chewed.

Then the quest for the elusive stick of gum was carried into the rest room. Here it was learned that gum was chewed by the very customers who in turn would not tolerate gum chewing across the counter. Of the first forty-three persons encountered, ten were "chewing."

"Fortified" Husbands.

Over on the "men's side" was found the supreme justification for the custom, vice or dissipation, whichever it may be. The tired business man, awaiting his tireless bargain hunting half, fortifies himself with a penny stick of nerve builder, and has the courage to wait another fifty minutes for his wife.

Observations made at other State street stores, in the majority of cases, led to the same consclusion: Gum, when used, is chewed by the customer, not the employé.

"Chew, if you can get away with it," was the slogan, however, at one of the stores. And many seemed to be getting away with it.

More Women Buy It.

Simple and convincing was the reason advanced at the gum counter at Hillman's. "No, I don't feel much like chewing it, after looking at it all day."

The girl in charge of the gum sales at a 5 and 10 cent store admitted she sold to a greater number of women, but added, "Girls buy it by the stick, or the package; men buy it by the box."

LEGALLY DEAD, VANISHED SPOUSE TURNS UP AGAIN

Back from that bourne from which, it is alleged, no traveler ever returns, came A. W. Swanson yesterday to regain his lost estate.

Swanson has been dead these many years. Not only have his Lares and Penates been claimed in probate by his wife, but she has remarried. In 1918, after neither seeing nor hearing from her husband for eighteen years, she was wedded to Harry Beeman, a California business man.

According to the story told then she married Swanson in Joliet when she was 17 years old. They lived together happily for two years. A baby was born. Then—suddenly, without warning—Swanson vanished.

Equally unostentatious was his return. He is 36 years old now and has a son who is 19. Sauntering into a Joliet law office, Swanson asked a quiet question:

"How can I get my estate back? I understand it was settled upon my wife two years ago?"

He has little to say about his wife's remarriage, but admits he gave his family no notice of his whereabouts during the many years of his supposed death.

BREAKING THE NEWS.

"And so they were married," in the presence of two witnesses, the pastor's secretary and the choirmaster, who happened to be present.

And after a light luncheon, which neither of them could eat, they drove to Millie's house to tell the news.

No one was at home. So they went in search of Jay. He was not to be found.

"This is funny," Sallie declared, smiling. "We eloped, and now here we are riding around trying to find some one to tell our news to, and we can't!"

One thing she knew she must do, and that was rest before evening. So they drove to Stuyvesant Square, and she lay down for an hour or more, and kept dutifully quiet, though she could not sleep.

At 4 o'clock Jim came to open the bedroom door, carefully, hating to waken her if she was asleep, and yet not knowing if he could stand another minute of being only half sure whether Sallie was really in there, or he had dreamed it.

She was there. Smiling so radiantly, in her supreme happiness, that Jim, obedient to a strong impulse, knelt down beside her and buried his face close to hers, and found no words to say for a while.

When they made their second effort to see Millie she was at home, and Linda came in with Jay soon afterward.

Sallie would not permit a scene.

"I'm married," she said, gently, but with a firmness that astounded Jim, "and I expect to stay married, whatever happens. It need not interfere with anybody or anything unless you make it. I want everything to be sweet and kind. I'll do all I can to make it so. But my husband must be respected. Where he isn't respected, I can't go."

They knew she meant it.

Millie and Linda would have liked to show fury, but they did not dare.

It was Jay who gave them their cue.

"This isn't the way I'd have had this happen," he said, holding out his hand to Jim, "nor the time; but, as Sallie says, it's done, and the only thing for any of us to do is to make the best of it. I'm glad to do my part."

"Thank you," Jim replied warmly. "I'm Sallie's, not to take from her in any way, but to help her all I can."

Sallie threw an arm around Jay and hugged him hard.

"I'll not forget," she whispered to him, "that our first word of good will came from you."

Then Millie kissed her, weeping, and Linda, not weeping, kissed her, too. Both of them shook hands with Jim and congratulated him.

"The wedding dinner is on me," Jay declared.

And it wasn't so lugubrious as it might have been.

After the play Jim took his bride home to Stuyvesant Square.

The newspapers dealt lightly with the wedding announcement. Most of them probably felt that Sallie had had enough space lately.

So with surprisingly little flurry Sallie found herself engaged in the vastly difficult rôle of "workingman's" wife and footlight favorite.

"And the great thing about it," she said to Jim, "is that we both understand so perfectly that the great romance of our lives has just begun. We don't know what in the world we're going to be able to make out of this undertaking——"

Jim made an inarticulate sound of protest.

Sallie kissed him.

"You don't like to admit that, do you, Precious?"

"With love like ours," he murmured, "there shouldn't be much speculation."

"Love doesn't 'stay put,' dearest! Every day does something to make it weaker or stronger—different. I wouldn't want it otherwise! Would you?"

He smiled tenderly at her spirit rather than at her idea.

"We're not running true to bride and groom form!" Sallie cried. "I ought to be the one who fears the honeymoon won't last always. And you ought to be the one who knows it won't, but hopes for something better and better, as time goes on. I wonder if this little flurry of my having something to do on my own account has twisted our points of view?"

"I'm wondering, too," he said.

"Do you wish they were untwisted?" she asked, earnestly, pensively.

"No," he answered, sturdily, convincingly. "I don't. I'm never one to want the 'good old days' back again. I'm glad to keep going on—to meet the new conditions. I believe 'the best is yet to be' in most everything."

"I know you do," Sallie said, softly. "That's why it's so splendid to be going on with you."

CITY HALL TARGET OF COLORED CLUB IN SECOND WARD

One hundred and fifty members of the newly organized Citizens' Relief Republican league, a Negro club the purpose of which is the stamping out of vice and lawlessness in the Second ward, held a protest meeting at 50 East 33rd street last night. Bitterness against the present city administration was the dominant note of their talk.

"We have been displeased for a long time with conditions in this community," said C. F. Stratford. "Instead of getting better living conditions are worse. It is impossible to find a clean street or alley in the whole ward. Consequently our health is in danger.

"The answer is always given that the city has no money to care for our streets. Why couldn't some of the cash paid the $100 a day experts be diverted to this use? We are curious to know."

BEG YOUR PARDON

In THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of Aug. 14 a picture of Abe Mitchell, British golf star now playing in the United States, was used by mistake as that of E. R. Stephenson, an itinerant preacher held in connection with the slaying of Father James E. Coyle.

Bing, Parachute Jumping Dog, Missing Since Pageant

Bing, the world's first, only, and greatest parachute jumping dog, is missing. Sergt. G. A. Shoemaker, for whom Bing was making daily parachute jumps during the Pageant of Progress, called THE TRIBUNE last night and asked that he be helped in his search for the terrier. The dog disappeared from the navy reserve camp at the Municipal pier last Sunday night, Lieut. J. L. Stromme, an air service officer stationed in Washington, is Bing's owner.

STOCKHOLDERS OF SPURGIN BANK MUST PAY DOUBLE

Permission to assess stockholders of the defunct Michigan Avenue Trust company, whose absconding president, Warren C. Spurgin, is supposed to be hiding in Mexico, twice the amount of their stock was granted yesterday by Judge John A. Swanson in the Circuit court.

However, if all the money due under this order is collected, it won't go far toward paying losses of depositors, it was revealed, as most of the stock was owned by Spurgin. Of the 2,000 shares, he owned 1,176, leaving 824 to be levied against. This will amount to $164,900, and the liabilities of the institution are said to be far in excess of $1,000,000.

The petition for permission to assess the stockholders was filed in the name of Andrew Russel, state auditor, by John W. O'Leary, the receiver, and seeks to "enforce payment of individual liability on the part of stockholders by suit or otherwise."

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Can a man over "fifty" smell whisky?

Where Asked.

Dearborn and Adams streets.

The Answers.

L. A. Lobdell, 3608 Flournoy street, pharmacist—If he has a nose like mine he can smell it a mile away. What has a man's age got to with his smeller? A man over 50 has the advantage over a younger man, because he smelled whisky when it WAS whisky.

Anna Simpkin, 1817 South Avers avenue, stenographer—Sure; why not. I can't see where the age of a man should hinder any in smelling "hootch," and I should think it would help them to detect the difference between good whisky and "hootch."

Casey La Franenta, 1022 Newberry avenue, drug clerk—Yes, I believe they can. Having worked in a drug store for some time, I have some little foundation for my thinking so. Besides, why shouldn't a man at that age be capable of smelling whisky. A few shots of booze and a strong cigar, and I'll bet any one can detect the party who indulged, a mile away.

Rose Snower, 1039 South Racine avenue, stenographer—Yes, a man over fifty can smell whisky. Probably some of them are better at it than the younger men. More experience, you know. I have heard that some of them can tell whether or not it is good whisky on sight.

Frank Cresrow Jr., 925 Blue Island avenue, student—Yes. Why question their ability to smell on account of their age. If all we hear and read is true, I should imagine that it would help, as is the case in whisky. Age makes it better. For my part, I do not know anything about it.

DESERTERS FACE MILITARY TRIAL.

Harold Vezollie of New Orleans, alias Jack Adams, Robert Singleton, and Frank Forrest, alias W. Dunbar, both of New York, three army deserters, arrested here Friday by Policeman Lee B. McGrane, will be turned over to the military authorities at Camp Pike, Ark., for court martial. Assistant State's Attorney Joseph J. Merensky announced yesterday.

KING PETER, HERO OF WORLD WAR, DEAD IN SERBIA

Fled Alone from Invaded Land, Renewed Army.

BELGRADE, Aug. 16.—[By the Associated Press.]—King Peter of Serbia died today.

King Peter, who for a long time has been ill, was reported early in June to be in a serious condition. He was then suffering from pleurisy. A short time afterwards he was said to be steadily improving in health, and his physicians declared him out of danger.

Nothing was heard of the aged monarch until a few days ago, when a dispatch from Belgrade said he was seriously ill with congestion of the lungs. He sank into unconsciousness Friday, remaining in that condition until the following day. His condition became worse Sunday night, and he gradually failed until the end.

KING'S DRAMATIC LIFE.

King Peter of Serbia, 76 years old, white haired, deaf, ill from the infirmities of age, and suffering from the wounds of three or more wars, relinquished the cares of state in 1919, when his second son, Crown Prince Alexander, succeeded him and became the ruler of the new state of Jugoslavia. He then declared:

"My beloved Serbia is now free, and its future, I believe, will be a great one. My work is over. I desire only the continued affection and devotion of my dear people, and, finally, a grave on Serbian soil."

KING PETER OF SERBIA.

Despite his age, King Peter presented one of the most courageous figures of the war. On the day that Serbia rejected the Austrian demands, Peter renounced his temporary abdication of the throne and placed himself once more at the head of the country. He was even then almost sightless and hard of hearing, and was under the constant care of a physician.

Escaped Into Albania.

When the fortunes of war turned against the Serbians he escaped through Albania into Saloniki, where he presided over the reorganization of his forces. Afterward he went to Corfu, where he established headquarters and took an active part in the direction of his nomadic government.

But his royal career was beclouded by a grave and terrible tragedy—the assassinations of his predecessor, King Alexander, and the latter's conspiring wife, Queen Draga—in the palace at Belgrade on June 10, 1903. A suspicion that members of the Karageorgevitch family, of which Peter was a member, were implicated in the conspiracy which exterminated the rival ruling Obrenovitch dynasty, of which Alexander and Draga were representatives and which placed Peter on the throne five days later, was never entirely removed. In 1911, when King Peter made a tour of Europe, he received somewhat of a cold reception from other royalties.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

CAUSES OF ALFALFA FAILURES.

Recent rains have made it favorable for the seeding of a large acreage of alfalfa this year. Middle west farmers have been growing alfalfa long enough to find that they are surer of getting a good stand by sowing the seed the last of July or the first of August than they are by seeding it at any other time of the year.

Farmers have learned through failures that this legume will not grow and produce a good crop of hay on thin, poorly drained soil; that it will not grow well unless the soil is fertile and fairly deep, so there will be room for the roots to spread, and that it is useless to expect good results where the soil needs lime.

Men who have had experience with this crop are not attempting to seed any of it this year unless their soil meets all these requirements. There are some farmers who are growing alfalfa for their first time who are still in doubt about the necessity of inoculating the soil where the seed is sown, but tests by various experiment stations have proved that the use of bacteria for alfalfa, at least the first time it is sown in a field, is a profitable practice.

Cultures that are used in inoculating the soil for alfalfa come only from the well known nodular-forming bacteria. Soil experts are warning farmers not to buy any other kind. They may be secured from state experiment stations or reliable firms and authorities say that they are the only forms of bacteria actually known to be of value.

A bad slump in yesterday's hog market carried values 25@50c below Monday and $1.00@1.25 below the previous Tuesday, when best light reached $11.85, the high point of the year. At the opening yesterday $10.85 was paid but later equally as good sold at $10.60. Supplies were excessive and 12,000 remained in the pens, with today's prospects still lower.

Heavy packing hogs showed most weakness at the close, being in large supply and more indifferent demand. Packers favored better grades running lighter in weight. The Armour houses purchased 4,000, averaging 240 lbs, at a cost of $9.70, against 4,098 Monday, averaging 286 lbs at a cost of $9.22. General average yesterday was $9.45.

Several loads of 1,308@1,479 lb steers sold yesterday at $10.50, being slightly higher considering the weight. General trade, however, closed dull and weak with prices weak to 25c lower. Seventeen 907@1,010 lb yearlings reached $10.75. Poorer grades of steers and butcher stock sold slowly and likewise the 1,800 range cattle numbered in the receipts.

Montana Sheep at $6.25.

Little change was noted in sheep and lambs, with best natives at $10.25 and top western lambs at $10.75. Some Montana sheep at $6.25 were considered 25c higher. Montana yearlings sold at $6.80@7.75, native breeding ewes at $5.50@$5.75, and western feeding yearlings at $6.25.

Seven western markets received 47,000 cattle, 65,000 hogs, and 50,000 sheep, against 41,000 cattle, 53,000 hogs, and 63,000 sheep the previous Tuesday, and 46,000 cattle, 51,000 hogs, and 71,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 10,000 cattle, 20,000 hogs, and 18,000 sheep, against 7,451 cattle, 14,951 hogs, and 33,655 sheep the corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

CHARGES BILLS OF LADING HELP THEFTS ON SHIPS

Charging that some steamship companies are using bills of lading so phrased as to make possible the avoidance of claims which should be paid in full, Charles E. Herrick, chairman of the traffic committee of the Institute of American Meat Packers yesterday submitted a formal protest to Secretary of Commerce Hoover.

Mr. Herrick complained that the lax provision for adjusting claims encouraged pilfering from the cargo, while shippers of perishable commodities suffer a loss because of the permission granted water carriers to deviate from the scheduled voyage to such wide extent.

Mr. Herrick gave an instance in which he asserted that $4,600 worth of merchandise had been pilfered from a $12,000 shipment. He said the pilfering brought American exporters into disrepute with foreign buyers and suggested that the abuses could hardly be remedied without legislation.

DRY GOODS MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Dry goods markets were firm for the day, with the rising price tendency momentarily arrested. Broad silks were quiet as a result of retarded retail movement. Men's woolen goods were active. Burlaps were quiet and held to low price levels.

C. & E. I. REPORTS 1920 NET INCOME OF $1,504,342

The net income of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad in 1920 was $1,504,342, which compares with a deficit of $1,340,137 in 1919. This amount does not include a total of $4,774,664 properly due the receiver from the government for lease of the road while under federal control and payment under the guaranty period from March to August, 1920. This is shown in the annual report of the receiver for the year ended Dec. 31, 1920, which will be made public today.

Net revenues for the year increased $855,765 from $688,231 to $1,543,997, or 124.3 per cent. Net railway operating income increased $2,713,106 from a deficit of $584,892 in 1919. Gross income was $2,385,373, compared with a deficit of $380,629 in the preceding year, an increase of $2,766,003. With the amount due from the government added to the net income, there would be a profit and loss surplus of $6,279,007 for the year.

Report of Receiver.

The receiver's and federal combined income account for the year, with comparisons, follows:

*From Sept. 30, 1919 only. †Does not include $4,774,664 due the receiver from the government for lease of road and guaranty payment.

The principal changes shown in the balance sheet, using round numbers, follow: Investment in property, etc., decreased $3,190,000; current assets increased $9,245,000; deferred assets increased $344,000; unadjusted debits increased $8,686,000; funded debt decreased $5,192,000; current liabilities increased $3,266,000; unadjusted credits increased $8,276,000; total assets and liabilities increased $15,086,000.

May Cut Live Stock Rates.

The reduction of approximately 25 per cent on export grain moving eastward from Chicago and other points, for which the roads petitioned recently, is being held in abeyance by the interestate commerce commission on the complaints of some of the carriers, particularly in the west, who feel that they might be injured by such action.

In the case of the suggestion made by the commission that the carriers reduce voluntarily their freight rates on live stock to 80 per cent of the present rates, but should not reduce rates which at present are less than 50 per cent a hundred pounds, it is learned that many traffic officials feel that favorable consideration may be given this point. The case, which involves principally rates on carload shipments of cattle in the entire western and southwestern cattle producing territory, was brought by the National Live Stock Shippers' league, and various other live stock shippers' associations.

Other business compels me to lease my 280-acre dairy and stock farm on a share basis. Located only 40 miles from Chicago, where the average year 'round price for milk is $2.50 per hundred.

RAILROAD NOTES

With no improvement in traffic other than the regular seasonal upturn, the railroads of the country will show net operating income for 1921 amounting to between $525,000,000 and $550,000,000, according to the estimate of a high railroad authority. This would cover $475,000,000 fixed charges, with only a small margin to spare for application to dividend requirements, which in 1920 amounted to $278,000,000.

A dispatch from Washington says the Interstate Commerce commission has denied the application of the New York Central, Nickel Plate, and Big Four railroads for authority to erect a passenger terminal at Cleveland at a cost of $60,000,000.

It is believed in Washington that President Harding will insist on the passage of rail relief legislationbefore allowing congress to recess from Aug. 20 until Sept. 19, as proposed in Senator Lodge's resolution.

A dispatch from Gadsden says the Tennessee, Alabama, and Georgia railroad will soon become the property of the Frisco system.

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

A weak market in Chicago stocks was registered yesterday, while the activity was three times as great as on Monday. A bearish tendency took effect, there being fractional declines in practically all stocks traded in. Sears, Roebuck was off 2 points to 61¾, bringing a new low record for that company. Light trading in Yellow Manufacturing brought that stock down 5 points. The packing issues dropped in active trading, Swift being off 1¾ points, Libby ¼, Cudahy ½, and Armour preferred ¼. Montgomery Ward was off ½, Briscoe ½, National Leather ⅛, and Union Carbide ¼. The total sales were 15,000.

The New York Times.

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—The daily procedure of the last week or so was repeated yesterday on the stock exchange, with some increase in the amount of business done. Pressure from speculative quarters was again applied to the industrial shares, converging again on half a dozen of the more active stocks, some of which declined 2 points or more. Meantime the general list changed only by fractions, and the railway shares held relatively firm.

The program of the professional speculators appears to be based entirely on the chance of a disappointing autumn season in trade and industry. That we shall not pass into rapid and vigorous recovery during the three or four next months is plainly enough a growing conviction with the banking community.

Not So Bad As 1920.

But along with that probability must be considered the further facts that no very large hopes of suddenly expanding trade have at any time been entertained in business circles and that, furthermore, there is no reason to expect either the financial strain or the forced readjustment of unwarantably high prices which characterized the autumn of 1920.

Today's further decline in exchange on Berlin, which, at one time, brought the German mark below 1.07 cents, as against 1.24 as recently as last Thursday, was closely watched. Our own people, being unaccustomed to think in terms of heavily depreciated currencies, are not apt to be impressed by a fall of one-sixth of a cent in a monetary unit nominally worth nearly a quarter of a dollar; but the actual meaning must be judged from the fact that this five day decline means shrinkage of almost 14 per cent in the gold value of the German currency.

Germans Buy Stocks.

What the German people think of it may be learned from this morning's cable, reporting a rush of the speculating public in Berlin to buy stocks (and, inferentially, commodities also) for the rise in prices foreshadowed by the fall in value of the paper mark. The records tell us of precisely such a rise of prices in the week in which during the last year of our civil war, gold rose from 235 to 285.

The last week's fall in the mark, if stated in the old time "gold market" terms, would mean that gold had "risen" in that period at Berlin from 1920 to 22.24.

SAFETY OF PRINCIPAL IS OUR FIRST CONSIDERATION

ALL GRAINS WEAK UNDER INFLUENCE OF WALL STREET

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Weakness in Wall steet stocks and liquidation in grains and provisions brought an increased selling pressure of a general character that carried prices down to the lowest level of the season for corn and oats futures and ended in a break of 2½@2¾c in wheat. In corn the net losses were 1½@1¾c, oats 1¼c, rye 1⅛@1⅝c, and barley 2c. The feeling at the last was discouraged and action of the market showed that price levels are of little importance in coarse grains for the present.

Heavy buying of September wheat by foreigners and seaboard exporters on the break around $1.21¾@1.22¾ furnished the main support to the market, while selling was scattered among nearly all the large houses. Those who had privileges sold protected them early and put so much on the market that it took a good part of the day before for the trade had it absorbed.

One Encouraging Factor.

The encouraging factor at the last was the report of 2,500,000 bu selling for export. While part of it was said to be covering short sales, there were inducements in the shape of lower cash premiums at the gulf and at the leading markets. Omaha reported its stocks all sold and shipped 236 cars, against 147 cars received. Reports from the southwest said wheat was moving to millers and exporters as fast as cars were available. At the close September was $1.22½@1.22 and December $1.23¾@1.23½.

To have wheat moving out as fast or faster than it comes in tends to create a bullish sentiment among the trade and deters liberal selling, which, in a measure, is one of the reasons for the break, as the short interest is so light that the market is not possessed of sufficient buying power to take the offerings and hold prices up. Weakness in corn and oats was a factor in inducing sales of wheat toward the last.

Flour Trade Improving.

Millers are reporting a better business in flour and find that the yellow hard winter and the spring wheats are showing more gluten than was supposed here. They are bought more readily, especially the yellow hard.

A bullish report on the Indiana corn crop from B. W. Snow was without effect, as the trade was intent on selling and liquidating, commission houses having liberal orders of that character. A large business was one in buying September and selling December and in doing the reverse, narrowing the spread to 1½c. Reports of large export sales were ineffective, although they aggregated 400,000 bu, with sales here 125,000 bu to the domestic trade. Country purchases to arrive were liberal.

An increase of 6,281,000 bu of oats in Bradstreet's available supply, making the total 67,328,000 bu, or nearly 7,000,000 bu more than last year's, shows the load that the oat trade is carrying and makes it hard to sustain values, as they are practically all hedged, in addition to many millions of oats held in country elevators. Northwestern interests were liberal changers from September to December, while local interests did the reverse. Country holders liquidated, and September, in making a new low, declined to 33½c and December to 37c, where they closed.

Exporters bought 500,000 bu rye, taking 200,000 bu at Duluth. Futures were taken off here, and the September advanced 2c early and declined 2c lower with other grains. Shipments by lake were 309,000 bu for export.

Provision Prices Lower.

With lower hogs and corn and liquidation on, especially in January lard, there was a lower range, with the main support on the break from shorts and packers. Cash trade was fair and shipments heavy. Hogs closed 25@40c lower. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Around 2,500,000 bu wheat were sold to the United Kingdom and the continent yesterday by seaboard exporters who bought the futures against the business but as yet have not taken the cash grain to fill the sales. Corn sales were estimated at 400,000 bu. and rye 500,000 bu.

Chicago handlers sold 50,000 bu wheat to the seaboard and 85,000 bu to mills. Corn sales, all domestic, were 125,000 bu and oats 215,000 bu, with 200,000 bu oats sold to go to store for delivery on September contracts. Charters were for 230,000 bu wheat to Georgian bay and 300,000 bu oats, at 1¾c to Buffalo.

No change in cash wheat premiums were somewhat larger. At Chicago premiums were less firm, but No. 2 red sold at 1@1½c, and No. 2 hard at 2@2½c over the September. Receipts, 260 cars.

Outside wheat markets showed an easier undertone, with St. Louis unchanged to 3c lower, Kansas City unchanged to 4c lower, and Omaha unchanged to 2c lower. Minneapolis premiums were unchanged to 5c higher, latter for a few cars. No. 1 northern at Winnipeg closed 3¾c higher. Receipts of new wheat there were 37 cars, including 6 cars No. 1 northern, and 25 cars No. 2 northern.

Cash corn prices were unchanged early, but declined with the future and closed 1@1½c lower. No. 2 yellow and white sold at 2c over the September and mixed at 1½c over, with shippers and industries good buyers. Receipts, 396 cars. Outside markets were unchanged to 1½c lower, Omaha leading the decline.

No. 2 and No. 3 white oats on track gained ¼@½c, as compared with the September, No. 2 white selling ½@1c under, while No. 3 white brought 2¾@3c under. Sample values were unchanged early and 1¼c lower at the last. Receipts, 311 cars.

NEWS OF THE CROPS

Condition of the corn crop is spotted. B. W. Snow, for Bartlett-Frazier company, is investigating the reports that there are numerous barren stalks and small ears, and wired from Indianapolis, Ind.: "Examined corn in Lake, Carroll, and Clinton counties. On thin and sandy soil it is badly fired, but on good land, especially bottom land, color and growth are good. Plenty of fields with twelve to fourteen foot stalks and appearance of earing as seen from the road is good. Field inspection, however, shows the crop is irregular and much below average in actual yield of corn. Large percentage of ears run from no grain at all up to samples where butts and tips are not filled. Percentage of barren stalks very high. Corn worms doing more damage than ever before with 20 per cent of ears in some fields attacked. Actual field count in twenty typical fields shows 47 per cent of examined stalks to have a good ear, 33 per cent have unfilled or short ears and inferior nubbins, and 20 per cent entirely barren. This covers a territory that had about two inches of rain in July and represents about 65 per cent of a crop."

"Through South Dakota oat belt about half of the crop is in the stack," wired Geo. M. Le Count to Stein, Alstrin & Co., from Sious Falls, S. D.: "Balance is thrashed. Crop very disappointing. Corn crop early and looking fine. Best I ever saw in this territory."

"For two weeks Cora Hinds, crop expert for the Manitoba Free Press, and a good one, has been covering western Canada grain fields, and for a week has found nothing but good wheat," said J. E. Bennett of Winnipeg. "This morning's report covering territory north and east of Edmonton, mentions prospects of 40 bu yield. I think it entirely safe to estimate western Canada wheat crop at 275,000,000 bu and up."

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

Since July 30 there has been 10,000,000 bu of corn sold for export from Chicago and the eastern trade at 2½@3½c over September. The parties selling the cash corn secured fully as high premiums over September as July corn brought last month. Country offerings of corn are increasing and export demand the last day or so has eased up.

With wheat moving out about as fast as it comes in and with the statistical situation regarded as extremely bullish, the trade has everything figured down fine except the volume of outside help, which continues disappointingly small, and is the big factor, offsetting the effect of the export buying and bull news. In the coarse grains prices are at a level where it looks as though there will be little profit in selling short, as values are the lowest since 1908 for September corn. Oats are the lowest since 1913 for September, and December oats the lowest since 1912. Too many are out of jobs for a big spectacular trade.

It is time for the farmers who do not have to sell their grains to hold them back, as there is too much pessimism, and values are too low for them to make any money, or for general business to revive. There are too large stocks of corn and oats for the present volume of trade to handle without a lowering of values. By marketing more moderately they may get a better price later in the season.

Comment is heard in some quarters regarding the advisability of extending the hours for trading in grain until 2:30 p. m. It is pointed out that the New York stock exchange remains open much longer than the Chicago Board of Trade. With the elimination of the indemnity business which is certain within the next few months, either by exchange or government action, it would give Chicago only three hours and forty-five minutes of actual business.

The four committees on changes in rules which are expected to work out the needed reforms in the board of trade, have completed their work, and are expected to report next Tuesday. The rules will then be posted for a vote of the association.

An increase of 250,000 bu in primary receipts of wheat yesterday, as compared with the showing of a week ago, had some effect on sentiment, as the trade has looked for a decreased movement. The gain, as compared with a week ago, was in the northwest, where the run of spring grain is getting under way. However, it failed to affect cash markets there.

Considerable comment was heard among the grain trade over the practical abandonment of the proposed Canadian wheat pool owing to the refusal of farmers to sign five year contracts. The Canadian contract was regarded as much less drastic than the one American farmers are being asked to sign by the United States grain growers. A report from the north Pacific coast says farmers who sold their wheat outright received 50 cents per bu more than those who went into the pool.

FLOUR PRICES STRONGER

Mills are offering spring and winter wheat flours freely and there is a fair trade for immediate shipment, with little call for beyond thirty days. Local mills have received some good sized rush orders for soft winter wheat flours from cracker bakers and are running at about 75 to 80 per cent capacity. Millers are buying wheat fairly. They have discovered that yellow hard winter wheat and the spring wheats have more gluten than was supposed, and they are picking them up freely. There are export orders in the market constantly, with a little business doing.

Soft winters are $6.00@6.40 for 95 per cent patents and $6.70@7.00 for short patents. Hard winters are $6.50@6.90 for 95 per cents and $6.80@7.70 for short patents. Clears are $5.50@6.00.

Minneapolis millers are asking $9.05@9.30 for their best spring wheat patents, while car lots range from $8.10@8.80, with the bulk of the trading around $8.10@8.40. New patents are $8.25 for September and October shipment. Bakers' grades to the retail trade are $8.70@9.00.

Rye flour is moving slowly at $6.00@7.15 for white patents, all depending upon where they are milled, Minneapolis millers asking the top prices.

The Railroads

TODAY total railroad securities are selling in the market for about $12,000,000,000, as against an original cost for construction of the properties of approximately $20,000,000,000, and against a reproduction cost at current value of more than $35,000,000,000.

IT is immediately patent to anyone that railroad securities from the standpoint of property value are incomparable bargains. Many good judges are convinced that an opportunity of a lifetime is now presented for profitable investment in these securities.

SPECIAL article now on the press will be distributed gratuitously.

Southwestern Bell Telephone.

F. F.—The 7 per cent convertible notes of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company are a well secured investment for a business man. The average earnings for the last six years cover the interest charges over twice. These notes are convertible at the holder's option into 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of the company, par for par.

Eddy Paper.

Helen S.—The Eddy Paper company has $1,250,000 of bonds and $1,448,480 of preferred stock outstanding to be taken care of before the common stock. Although the common has paid dividends there is a provision that there shall be no further payments on this stock until one-half of the bonds are retired. The company does not furnish an income account or other statistics essential for rating its securities, but from information we have we rate the common stock as speculative.

Union Electric Light and Power.

S. T. E.—The Union Electric, Light and Power company's net earnings have increased steadily for the last six years. Last year the company's balance for dividends covered the preferred dividend by a very wide margin. This stock is high grade, although not as conservative an investment as the company's bonds. It is selling around par.

NEW BOARD OF TRADE MEMBERS.

John H. Herron of the Elmore-Shultze Grain company, St. Louis, and R. E. L. Sunderling of Chicago were elected to membership in the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

When Will Your Bonds Be Called?

Do you fully understand the sinking fund and call provisions of your bonds?

As a part of our service to clients we have recently issued notices of three typical bond calls:

(a) A limited number of bonds called by lot, redeemable at a set price
(b) The entire issue called in advance of maturity
(c) Tenders called for, to absorb a specified amount of funds available for the purchase of bonds.

When — and how — will your bonds be called?

We shall be glad to investigate and report on the sinking fund and call features of your holdings if you wish us to do so. Or, if you will give us a list of the issues you have, we will notify you in the event of a "call" or of any other developments which may be of interest to you.

You incur no obligation in taking advantage of this item of service of Southern Pacific fame, says:

WILLIAM HOOD

"No true engineer ever says any thing cannot be done."

INCREDULITY is going out of fashion. The term "that's a wild dream" has long been in disuse. Too many of those dreams have come true.

Nowadays, when an apparently unsurmountable obstacle confronts a big brained man, he studies it from every angle, gathers all his resources together with deliberation—and nine times out of ten overcomes that obstacle with astonishingly little trouble.

Almost invariably he finds a strong ally in his bank: sound advice is given—more material help if he needs it.

Regardless of business conditions the resources of the Importers and Traders National Bank are at its customer's command. More than one man has called it "my silent partner."

CADILLAC'S 6 BARGAINS

BUICK TOURING CAR. This is a 1920 model, 7 passenger. We consider this one of the best Buicks that we have ever offered, due to the fact that the original purchaser has cared for it himself. Has had remarkably low mileage and kept well lubricated. It is painted a dark Buick blue. Has an excellent set of cord tires, one extra, bumper, spotlight, seat covers, and special covering for the tonneau. You will be agreeably surprised at its mechanical condition. As the price is low, you will have to act at once if you want to avail yourself of this bargain. $1,150.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, PHAETON SPORT MODEL. This is the current series and the same car that we are delivering new today for over $4,200. It was turned in to us by one of our customers for a larger model of the Cadillac, after he had used it a short time. We have just revarnished this car, although the original paint was in good condition. Has an excellent set of tires that show very little wear, one extra, bumper, tire covers, etc. This car we will guarantee. If you want to make a big saving on a Cadillac, do not fail to look this car over. Special for this sale, $3,000.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, SUBURBAN SEDAN. This is the latest and current series and the same car as we are delivering new today, costing over $5,700. This car has only been delivered a short time and has been used by one of our oldest Cadillac owners. Is painted a standard Cadillac blue, which is in excellent condition. Velour upholstering looks like new. Cord tires are like new, one extra, and bumper. We have made a thorough examination of this car mechanically and will guarantee it. You probably will never have another opportunity of getting the latest and current series Cadillac Sedan at this price. If interested we would suggest that you come at once. We have priced this car extremely low for immediate sale. Special, $4,250.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 59, ROADSTER. This is the current series and the same car as we are delivering new today, with equipment costing over $4,200. We have made a thorough inspection of its mechanical condition and will guarantee it. Painted a dark Cadillac blue. Upholstering and top—in fact, the entire car—is almost like new. Has an excellent set of cord tires, one extra, bumper, etc. If you are looking for the latest series Cadillac at $1,000 below the market price this bargain will please you. You will probably never have another opportunity this year to obtain a Cadillac car at this figure. Special for this sale, $2,500.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 57, VICTORIA COUPE. This is a double letter and the latest of this series delivered by this company. The body on this car is a duplicate of our present coupe. We have made a thorough inspection in our mechanical department and replaced parts where necessary, and guarantee this car. The original owner of this car exchanged it for one of our new Sedans. We have just refinished this car in our own paint shop and it has the appearance of a new Cadillac. Has an excellent set of cord tires and one extra. Velour upholstering in this car shows practically no wear. If you are looking for a real bargain in a late series Cadillac Coupe do not fail to make an examination of this car. Special for this sale, $3,000.

CADILLAC 8, TYPE 57, VICTORIA COUPE. This car is painted a special color of green. Has a roomy 4 passenger coupe body on it in the same design as our new car. Equipped with a set of cord tires, one extra, bumper, clock, etc. Upholstery and general coach condition on this car show but very little wear. We have made a thorough inspection of this car and replaced worn parts. Is sold under our guarantee. The original owner of this car has given it most excellent care and availed himself of our service department, and the purchaser of this car is going to benefit by it. We are very fortunate in getting this car at this very low figure, and we are offering it way below the market price. No doubt it will be sold to the first person who receives a demonstration. Special for this sale, $2,100.
